OUTSTANDING FARMER—William L. Walker, 34, Route 2, was selected by Circleville Jaycees as the Outstanding Young Farmer. He will be honored at the Distinguished Service banquet 6:30 p.m. Monday. Seated with Walker is his wife, Sondra Sue Young Walker, and two children, David and Julie.

Jaycees Name Walker Outstanding Farmer

Circleville Jaycees have selected William L. Walker, Route 2, as the Outstanding Young Farmer in Pickaway County.

Born in Pickaway County Dec. 19, 1939, Walker was raised on the farm. He graduated from Jackson Township High School in 1958.

He is married to the former Sondra Sue Young and they have two children, David Ray, six-years-old and one-year-old Julie Marie.

Walker operates a 1478-acre grain farm.

He is a member of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau where he serves on the Board of Trustees. He is currently chairman of the membership committee of the Farm Bureau, and also serves on the Bureau council.

The 34-year-old farmer is a member of the Pickaway County Farmers Club and has been a competitor in the Central Ohio Tractor Pullers and National Tractor Pullers Association.

He serves as clerk for the Jackson Township Trustees.

Walker and his family attend the Scioto Chapel United Methodist Church.

The Outstanding Young Farmer, along with the recipients of the Educator, Senior Citizen and Distinguished Service Award, will be honored at the Jaycees Distinguished Service banquet 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Hold Anti-Abortion Rallies In Ohio

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM
Associated Press Writer

The anti-abortion movement in Ohio showed it was still alive and well Tuesday, staging rallies, marches, speeches and church services to mark the first anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision legalizing most abortions.

Special observances were held in Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo and other cities to commemorate what was called "Black Tuesday."

In Columbus, abortion foes formed a double circle around the Statehouse, holding candles, flashlights and placards.

After filing quietly around the capitol, they gathered on the front steps to hear speeches against the operation.

At one point protestors extinguished their flashlights and candles to symbolize lives snuffed out by abortion.

In Cincinnati, students from Edgely College and St. Ursula Academy picketed the Cincinnati Women's Services, Inc., a clinic which claims it has performed 1,100 abortions this year.

Meanwhile, about 400 people, including children, marched around the federal building in Cincinnati.

The Roman Catholic Diocese of Toledo scheduled special worship services and prayer Tuesday. Jim Richards, diocese communications director, said all but one of northwestern Ohio's Catholic churches tolled their bells at noon to mark the anniversary.

St. Teresa's Catholic Church in downtown Toledo was unable to follow the request because the church has no bell. Instead, the 260 pupils and faculty at St. Teresa School formed a huge circle on the playground at noon Tuesday and prayed silently.

"Our children are concerned about the value of life and when they realized that for lack of a bell our church could not take part, they asked to do something special," said the Rev. Bernard Boff, St. Teresa pastor.

About 2,000 people attended a rally Tuesday night sponsored by the Toledo Foundation for Life organization. Those attending were told abortion is not a moral issue, but a matter of justice involving the rights of others, namely the unborn children.

The Rev. Michael Donovan, vice chancellor of the Columbus Roman Catholic Diocese, said the Tuesday observances were "an organized effort to rectify the court's decision and support a constitutional amendment for the sanctity of life."

"The right to give and take away life is God's," Father Donovan. "The Supreme Court is not the supreme being. It has usurped a right that belongs only to God."

"We believe many people do not understand what is at stake—the question of human life, itself."

Dean Testimony Stands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III's testimony before the Senate Watergate committee and federal grand juries apparently is withstanding the test of the White House tapes.

It was learned Tuesday night that the prosecutors have no plans to charge Dean with lying when he testified about White House discussions of the Watergate break-in.

It also is known that Dean is continuing to cooperate closely with the prosecutors. He was seen entering their offices within the last couple of days.

A source, who said he believed he was familiar with the material Republican Senate leader Hugh Scott said contradicted Dean, suggested that Scott may have been mistaken.

Scott said Sunday the White House had information that could prove Dean was wrong when he said the President knew of the Watergate cover-up before March 21, 1973, the date the President has said he first learned of it.

The prosecutor's office declined comment on the reports. Scott could not be reached for comment.

Dean pleaded guilty in October to a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice. The prosecutors agreed not to seek further charges against Dean in exchange for his cooperation.

Last July, the prosecutor's office subpoenaed the tapes of nine presidential conversations. The demand was based largely on Dean's testimony before the Watergate committee.

On Oct. 23, the White House agreed to give the tapes voluntarily to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who subsequently turned over the Watergate portions to the prosecutors.

The White House had notified Sirica that two of the conversations sought never were recorded and that a third contained an 18½-minute gap that had obliterated all references to the Watergate break-in.

Last week, Sirica referred those three cases to special prosecutor Leon Jaworski with a recommendation he present evidence to a grand jury. Jaworski's staff began presenting the case to a grand jury on Monday.

According to a memorandum filed in court last August in support of the subpoena issued by the prosecutors, the crucial meetings involving Dean occurred on Sept. 15, 1972, and March 13 and 21, 1973.

Dean said that at the Sept. 15, meeting the President congratulated him on the "good job" he had done and said he was pleased the case had "stopped with Liddy."

Dean testified that on March 13, the President told him he had approved executive clemency for Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt and that there would be no problem about raising $1 million to buy the silence of all seven defendants.

There were two meetings on March 21. All accounts agree that during the first, Dean gave the President his theory of the cover-up involving White House and presidential campaign committee officials.

At the afternoon meeting, Dean said the possibility of White House and campaign officials testifying before the grand jury was discussed and that after the session it was clear to him the cover-up would continue.

Berger Hospital Board Accepts Architect's Plans For Phase I

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

The plans and specifications for the Phase I building project were accepted and approved by the Berger Hospital Board of Governors Tuesday evening. Architect John Carmichael presented the final drafts of the project which will include a total of 38,000 square feet.

Included in the proposed structure will be completely new surgical facilities with two suites and a four-bed recovery room, modern emergency services containing five stretchers for major emergency cases, three x-ray rooms, a completely new laboratory including bacteriology and EKG facilities, central supply and pharmacy.

The plans also specified a full basement, part of which may be finished to contain maintenance and purchasers services, employees' locker room and boilers.

A connecting link is proposed on two levels between the old hospital and the new structure. As hospital plans progress and Phase II goes into effect, the supporting corridor will ultimately be destroyed to make room for the long-range plan of a facility to increase the number of beds available.

Carmichael explained that the walls of the building would be of ceramic tile in areas showing hard usage and hard dry-wall in other areas. Ceilings are to be either acoustic tile or hard plastered dry-wall. Floor coverings

ROUINDTOWN

THE Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center at Wooster today announced the 1972 Ohio farm income report . . . Pickaway County ranks ninth in the state in overall cash receipts . . .

The county is second in the state in production of cattle and calves, eighth in production of hogs . . .

Total cash receipts for livestock, livestock products, crops, and government payments in the county were $33,998,000 in 1972 . . . Average gross income per farm is $25,562 and average gross income per acre is $104.

Weather

Cloudy with chances of rain today. Temperatures dropping into 40s. Clearing and colder tonight, low, mid 20s. Mostly sunny Thursday, high in 40s. Probability of precipitation, 50 per cent today, 10 per cent tonight and zero per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Tuesday were: high, 60; low, 52.

will include vinyl asbestos tile and some carpeting in selected areas such as the doctor's lounge.

The exterior of the building will be composed of mostly brick with some pre-cast concrete.

With the acceptance of the plans by the board, the architect will advertise for bids. He advised the board of governors that by law the bids must be advertised four times and he suggested since the economy was unstable and material hard to get, they should run their advertisements for five weeks.

Proposed completion date is Jan. 1, 1976. The structure was estimated to cost $1,773,706, however, that figure was quoted in September and prices have changed since that time. With the additional add-on bid of the basement, the present quoted figure includes $223,400 for it.

At a special meeting on Jan. 2, the board of governors met with several representatives from local industry. At the luncheon meeting, the board explained what industry may expect from the hospital. During Tuesday's meeting, it was proposed that a brochure be compiled for industry to clarify the most desirable relationship between the hospital and the local industry and to outline the hospital's responsibility to industry.

The brochure, when finished, will be submitted to the medical staff for approval and then approved by the board of governors. It will be presented to the various industries for permanent filing.

Harry J. Clifton, chairman of the financial committee, presented the financial statement for December. Included in his report was a comparative analysis of 1973 over 1972. Total admissions in 1973 were 2,891 over the 2,565 figure for 1972. The daily average number of patients was only up one but the average occupancy for adults was up from 68 per cent to 76 per cent. Occupancy in the medical surgical wing was up 10 per cent and the obstetrics showed four per cent increase.

Total operations in 1972 were 972 as compared to 982 performed in 1973. The number of births was up 84 and emergency room visits up 1,547.

The management was commended by the board of governors for the excellent financial report and it was stated the new building project seemed less venturesome in view of the fact that the money had been so well managed.

A resolution was passed raising the mileage rate for those who run errands for the hospital from ten cents per mile to 15 cents.

Several members of the medical staff attended the meeting to discuss the need for staff expansion. At present the major problem is the need of a qualified and competent nursing supervisor and another registered nurse in the surgery department.

Administrator John Reid's report included the proposal to approve a cost of living increase in wage and a request to close out the special purpose fund.

As recommended by Reid, the board approved the request to close out the special purpose fund and run it through the general fund. The state auditor has already approved the procedure. The board discussed the fact that the fund was originally designed to pay the Public Employees Retirement System payments but was now cumbersome in that it caused a considerable amount of book work to keep it separate. The money to pay these benefits will always be set aside but will not be included in a special fund.

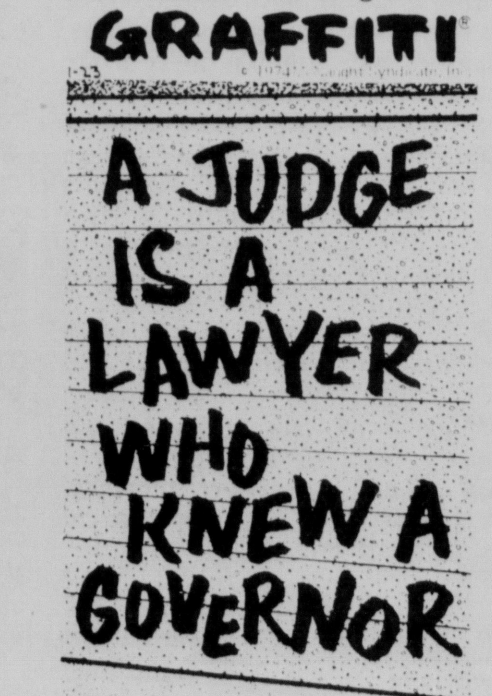

Reid advised the board that a change in pathology was due in the near future and that two persons have already been interviewed and a third is scheduled for a meeting.

A representative from Ernst and Ernst was also present at the meeting. Ernst and Ernst has been doing a financial study on how the hospital will operate after the building project is completed.

President Sends Energy Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to reduce the tax breaks available to U.S. oil companies operating overseas and to ease the demands of present clean air laws.

The President sent Congress a new energy message urging passage of the emergency legislation previously proposed and adding some new proposals.

Nixon's new measure would, if adopted:

—Eliminate the 22 per cent depletion allowance granted U.S. companies producing oil abroad.

—Reduce the amount of foreign income tax which U.S. oil companies can credit directly against their taxes in the United States.

—Extend for two more years the emission standards now applying to 1975 automobiles.

—Remove the present requirement for a 90 per cent reduction in nitrogen oxide emissions in 1976 cars.

—Extend the legal deadline for meeting clean air standards in metropolitan areas which otherwise would need "unreasonable transportation controls."

—Permit temporary relaxation of clean air deadlines and requirements for power plants and other sources which cannot get an adequate supply of clean energy.

—Speed the licensing and construction of atomic power plants by encouraging standardized plant designs, establishing an inventory of approved locations for future power plants and separating the questions of site approval from reactor licensing.

Mini-Arms Race In Mideast Proves Worrisome

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Scarcely noticed in a blizzard of developments, a secondstring arms race around the Arab East periphery makes for melancholy commentary on long-range hopes for tranquility in that sensitive region.

The Middle East ordinarily is complex enough. The world oil crisis made matters vastly more complicated, and what goes on in the Persian Gulf area might look to a detached observer at times as if dictated by some sort of demented logic.

The whole Middle East long has been vulnerable to the perils of a super-power showdown. After each explosion, Moscow proceeds to rearm Syria and Egypt and Washington to rearm Israel.

Yet there is a suspicion Moscow used its leverage as a source of arms to squeeze Syria into at least listening to settlement proposals. There's a similar suspicion that the United States used access to American arms as an arm-twisting device in Israel. There is even a Tel Aviv report that Israel is producing electronic weaponry to reduce her dependency on U.S. arms.

For all of this apparent fear of arms buildups, however, an odd picture is unfolding of spirited Western competition to peddle arms in the Arab East. Lately British, French and Americans have been prowling the Persian Gulf area seeking arms deals with sheiks and princes. This began before there was any thought of a settlement on the war fronts, even before the October war began.

The French and British both landed arms contracts in the Arabian peninsula before the outbreak of the October war. Now French diplomacy is highly and competitively visible in Saudi Arabia in the wake of a new deal to deliver weaponry plus industrial equipment and knowhow in return for a guaranteed flow of oil.

The United States professes anxiety about "maintaining the arms balance" in the Middle East, but Americans also are heavily involved in the competition to sell arms in the Gulf area.

The Arab East's northern tier is made up of two potentially powerful elements, one with large amounts of Russian arms, the other possessing large amounts of U.S. military hardware.

South of that tier there is the spectacle, for example, of Abu Dhabi, a tiny desert emirate of 80,000, spending oil riches for a swarm of French Mirage jets, perhaps 32 in all. Abu Dhabi has an army of 8,000 with Pakistani, Jordanian and British officers, an unlikely match for any strong enemy.

Pakistanis, experienced with sophisticated weaponry, play an important role that probably irks

India, Pakistan's perennial enemy. The Moslem sheiks regard the Moslem Pakistanis as possible protectors. At the same time, Pakistan is believed to have a deal for use of the Abu Dhabi jets in case of an emergency of its own.

Pakistanis also are in evidence in Saudi Arabia, again in collaboration with the French.

Long before the October war, King Faisal had embarked on a billion-dollar arms modernization program. Western salesmen rushed to get in on it. The Saudis had ordered 170 jet fighters, among other things, from the United States to beef up an existing force of 70 planes. Just after the October war began, U.S. officials said talks with Persian Gulf Arabs on arms would be held in abeyance, but the process still seems to be alive.

In non-Arab Iran, the Shah, candidly intent on using vast oil revenues to build the most powerful force on the Gulf, is talking in terms of amassing an additional $2 billion worth of U.S. military hardware.

Iraq, a long-time enemy of Iran, has designs on Kuwait and invaded it several years ago. The British expelled the Iraqis, but the British military presence is gone from the Gulf now. Just before the October war Kuwait notified the United States it wanted to buy a half billion dollars worth of jet planes and other military items, but its armed force of 8,000 would be no match for a strong foe like Iraq.

The picture now is of a northern tier of the Arab East, dominated by Arabs heavily armed by the Russians and Iranians heavily armed by the Americans, while Arab oil rulers to the south arm against a possible threat from regimes in the north. All this ferment bubbles inside an already explosive over-all Middle East situation.

Berger Hospital Board Accepts Architect's Plans For Phase I

The plans and specifications for the Phase I building project were accepted and approved by the Berger Hospital Board of Governors Tuesday evening. Architect John Carmichael presented the final drafts of the project which will include a total of 38,000 square feet.

Included in the proposed structure will be completely new surgical facilities with two suites and a four-bed recovery room, modern emergency services containing five stretchers for major emergency cases, three x-ray rooms, a completely new laboratory including bacteriology and EKG facilities, central supply and pharmacy.

A representative from Ernst and Ernst was also present at the meeting. Ernst and Ernst has been doing a financial study on how the hospital will operate after the building project is completed.

It was also reported to the board that the occupancy for January to date is running at 82 per cent.

The cost of living increase was approved by the board raising the hospital's minimum wage to $1.90 per hour. The new salary schedule is based on the total salary paid as per total yearly hours worked. The bulk of the increase is at the lower income range.

Reid said the board, in passing this resolution, was only staying in line with the competitive rates in the area. The salary schedule is also based on responsibility and education at the different levels of the scale. The new salary scale is to go into effect Feb. 17.

The present law allows a six per cent increase in earnings and the board discussed how the new increase plus the annual increase of four per cent allowed each employee would nearly cover the increase allowed.

A proposed expansion of the board to increase the members by two was tabled with a resolution it would be discussed further at the next meeting. Any action in this direction will create several changes.

In closing, the board of governors delegated the Joint Conference Committee to meet and discuss the problem presented by the medical staff regarding the need for a nursing supervisor.

India, Pakistan's perennial enemy. The Moslem sheiks regard the Moslem Pakistanis as possible protectors. At the same time, Pakistan is believed to have a deal for use of the Abu Dhabi jets in case of an emergency of its own.

Pakistanis also are in evidence in Saudi Arabia, again in collaboration with the French.

Long before the October war, King Faisal had embarked on a billion-dollar arms modernization program. Western salesmen rushed to get in on it. The Saudis had ordered 170 jet fighters, among other things, from the United States to beef up an existing force of 70 planes. Just after the October war began, U.S. officials said talks with Persian Gulf Arabs on arms would be held in abeyance, but the process still seems to be alive.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market clung to modest gains today and appeared to be drifting.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 2.69, little changed from a half-hour earlier but half what it was near the opening. Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by 7 to 4.

Analysts said the market's early strength was a continuation of Tuesday's nearly 9-point rise in the Dow, which was prompted by optimistic forecasts of an early end to the Arab oil embargo.

Teleprompter, which has been up recently since a government study recommending less regulation of the cable-television industry, fell 1 1/2 to 6 1/2 in active trading.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index at noon was up .63 at 96.01, while the NYSE composite index was up .03 at 51.59.

Bonus Bill, Land Restoration Eyed By Ohio Solon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives scheduled votes today on bills enabling payment of the Vietnam veterans' bonus and requiring restoration of lands damaged by oil and gas drilling.

The latter probably will touch off the first floor debate this year on the energy crisis, and test the lawmakers' feelings about the environment in view of the fuel shortage.

Rep. Robert J. Boggs, D-97 Jefferson, introduced the bill last May, and it has been in the House Rules Committee since July 10, long before the energy crisis became a household concern in Ohio.

The bill, patterned to some degree after Ohio's tough strip mining law which that industry now wants to relax, requires the posting of bond to assure that owners and operators of wells reclaim drilled land to meet prescribed standards.

Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, predicted passage of his bill that spells out the right of Ohio's Vietnam era veterans to receive double their bonuses, otherwise to be paid in cash up to a maximum $500, if they elect to spend them for educational benefits.

The measure is needed to implement the $300 million bonus authorized by voters in the Nov. 6 election. Passage of the immediately-effective emergency bill would permit payments within the next few weeks, provided there is no snag in administrative procedures.

In floor action, the House voted 60-27 to streamline laws that say Ohioans may petition their government through the procedures of initiative and referendum.

Among other things, the bill states that a petition may not be invalidated if signatures are obtained in more than one county. It also does away with a requirement that the signer must designate on the scene his ward and precinct, which many cannot do off hand.

Sponsoring Rep. Michael G. Oxley, R-82 Findlay, said the Senate-passed bill is needed "to streamline and bring up to date the initiative and referendum procedures here in Ohio." The bill now goes to the governor.

The House also added its approval to Senate bills revising licensing procedures for podiatrists and revamping the makeup of the State Parole Board. Passed and sent to the Senate were proposals revising fees for the handling of security interests in personal property, and allowing the state to charge six per cent interest on sales and use tax bills due for 30 days or longer.

Nine new bills were introduced in the House, including a proposal by Rep. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma, strengthening laws against indecent exposure. The bill is needed, she said, because of an omission in the drafting of Ohio's new criminal code.

Another new House bill, by Rep. James Mueller, D-74 Chesterland, would take away from the newly created Ohio Power Siting Commission the authority to designate the locations of new plants and utility lines. Mueller said he wants local authorities to make such decisions.

Senators acted on one bill at their brief floor session. They passed and sent to the House a bill that allows county commissioners as well as cities to force homeowners near new sewer lines to tap into the facilities.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, offered a new Senate measure that would allow police and firemen to purchase military credit toward their retirement.

Rep. George Mastics, R-3 Cleveland, said he plans to offer today a bill that would have members of the Public Utilities Commission elected rather than appointed by the governor. His bill, he said, "would offer the public a piece of the action" in view of the fact "the public now is footing the bill for (utility) rate increases."

Ohio Corn Plantings To Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting Service had good news for consumers Tuesday when it reported a survey indicated the state's farmers plan to boost 1974 corn plantings by 15 per cent.

Corn is the most important livestock feed grain for producing meat, milk and poultry. This year's crop, to be harvested in the fall, will be a key to those supplies through 1975.

The reporting service's survey showed an intended corn planting of 3.8 million acres in 1974, compared to the 3.3 million last year, while soybean acreage will drop 8 per cent from 3.6 million to 3.3 million acres.

But officials cautioned that actual plantings could be changed by the shortage of nitrogen fertilizer. If the shortage is acute, corn acreage could go down and soybean acreage could go up.

The predicted corn-soybean total was 7.1 million acres, compared to 6.9 million acres in 1973. The net increase of 200,000 acres was only a small part of the 2.5 million additional acres released in Ohio for planting by the federal government.

Officials said part of that additional acreage went to winter wheat. Ohio farmers are expected to increase that planting from 755,000 acres to 1.5 million acres.

The remaining 1.5 million acres of cropland remained undedicated to 1974 crops at the time of the survey, officials said.

Beef Prices Rising Again

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
It's budget stretching time again for millions of Americans who are finding beef prices on the rise after a brief spell of stability.

An Associated Press survey shows beef prices at the retail level rose 10 and 20 cents a pound on most items in the past two weeks.

The boosts reflect higher wholesale costs — up about 25 or 30 per cent since the beginning of December. People in the industry say the higher wholesale costs are the result of production cutbacks that stemmed from last year's freeze.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting on the Consumer Price Index, said Tuesday that retail food costs during 1973 rose 20.1 per cent. The December boost was three-tenths of one per cent.

A glance at the meat counter was all it took to confirm the bad news.

At Shaw's supermarket chain in New England, lean hamburger was selling for $1.29 a pound this week. Last week, the price was $1.09 a pound and a year ago it was 99 cents. That's an increase of about 30 per cent over one year.

Eugene Owens, the meat buyer for Shaw's, blamed wholesale price rises. "It's been nothing but up every day for three weeks," he said. "We held as long as we could. And from what we can tell, it looks like prices will hold at the higher level for the next two or three months."

A spokesman for Fisher Foods Inc. in Cleveland, Ohio, said that in the past three weeks ground beef went from 88 to 98 cents a pound. He said the wholesale prices leveled off this week, but added: "Everything we've heard nationally is that prices are going to go up until spring."

Bonus Bill, Land Restoration Eyed By Ohio Solon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives scheduled votes today on bills enabling payment of the Vietnam veterans' bonus and requiring restoration of lands damaged by oil and gas drilling.

The latter probably will touch off the first floor debate this year on the energy crisis, and test the lawmakers' feelings about the environment in view of the fuel shortage.

Rep. Robert J. Boggs, D-97 Jefferson, introduced the bill last May, and it has been in the House Rules Committee since July 10, long before the energy crisis became a household concern in Ohio.

The bill, patterned to some degree after Ohio's tough strip mining law which that industry now wants to relax, requires the posting of bond to assure that owners and operators of wells reclaim drilled land to meet prescribed standards.

Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, predicted passage of his bill that spells out the right of Ohio's Vietnam era veterans to receive double their bonuses, otherwise to be paid in cash up to a maximum $500, if they elect to spend them for educational benefits.

The measure is needed to implement the $300 million bonus authorized by voters in the Nov. 6 election. Passage of the immediately-effective emergency bill would permit payments within the next few weeks, provided there is no snag in administrative procedures.

In floor action, the House voted 60-27 to streamline laws that say Ohioans may petition their government through the procedures of initiative and referendum.

Among other things, the bill states that a petition may not be invalidated if signatures are obtained in more than one county. It also does away with a requirement that the signer must designate on the scene his ward and precinct, which many cannot do off hand.

Sponsoring Rep. Michael G. Oxley, R-82 Findlay, said the Senate-passed bill is needed "to streamline and bring up to date the initiative and referendum procedures here in Ohio." The bill now goes to the governor.

The House also added its approval to Senate bills revising licensing procedures for podiatrists and revamping the makeup of the State Parole Board. Passed and sent to the Senate were proposals revising fees for the handling of security interests in personal property, and allowing the state to charge six per cent interest on sales and use tax bills due for 30 days or longer.

Nine new bills were introduced in the House, including a proposal by Rep. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma, strengthening laws against indecent exposure. The bill is needed, she said, because of an omission in the drafting of Ohio's new criminal code.

Another new House bill, by Rep. James Mueller, D-74 Chesterland, would take away from the newly created Ohio Power Siting Commission the authority to designate the locations of new plants and utility lines. Mueller said he wants local authorities to make such decisions.

Senators acted on one bill at their brief floor session. They passed and sent to the House a bill that allows county commissioners as well as cities to force homeowners near new sewer lines to tap into the facilities.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, offered a new Senate measure that would allow police and firemen to purchase military credit toward their retirement.

Rep. George Mastics, R-3 Cleveland, said he plans to offer today a bill that would have members of the Public Utilities Commission elected rather than appointed by the governor. His bill, he said, "would offer the public a piece of the action" in view of the fact "the public now is footing the bill for (utility) rate increases."

Ohio Corn Plantings To Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting Service had good news for consumers Tuesday when it reported a survey indicated the state's farmers plan to boost 1974 corn plantings by 15 per cent.

Corn is the most important livestock feed grain for producing meat, milk and poultry. This year's crop, to be harvested in the fall, will be a key to those supplies through 1975.

The reporting service's survey showed an intended corn planting of 3.8 million acres in 1974, compared to the 3.3 million last year, while soybean acreage will drop 8 per cent from 3.6 million to 3.3 million acres.

But officials cautioned that actual plantings could be changed by the shortage of nitrogen fertilizer. If the shortage is acute, corn acreage could go down and soybean acreage could go up.

The predicted corn-soybean total was 7.1 million acres, compared to 6.9 million acres in 1973. The net increase of 200,000 acres was only a small part of the 2.5 million additional acres released in Ohio for planting by the federal government.

Officials said part of that additional acreage went to winter wheat. Ohio farmers are expected to increase that planting from 755,000 acres to 1.5 million acres.

The remaining 1.5 million acres of cropland remained undedicated to 1974 crops at the time of the survey, officials said.

Beef Prices Rising Again

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
It's budget stretching time again for millions of Americans who are finding beef prices on the rise after a brief spell of stability.

An Associated Press survey shows beef prices at the retail level rose 10 and 20 cents a pound on most items in the past two weeks.

The boosts reflect higher wholesale costs — up about 25 or 30 per cent since the beginning of December. People in the industry say the higher wholesale costs are the result of production cutbacks that stemmed from last year's freeze.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting on the Consumer Price Index, said Tuesday that retail food costs during 1973 rose 20.1 per cent. The December boost was three-tenths of one per cent.

A glance at the meat counter was all it took to confirm the bad news.

At Shaw's supermarket chain in New England, lean hamburger was selling for $1.29 a pound this week. Last week, the price was $1.09 a pound and a year ago it was 99 cents. That's an increase of about 30 per cent over one year.

Eugene Owens, the meat buyer for Shaw's, blamed wholesale price rises. "It's been nothing but up every day for six weeks," he said. "We held as long as we could. And from what we can tell, it looks like prices will hold at the higher level for the next two or three months."

A spokesman for Fisher Foods Inc. in Cleveland, Ohio, said that in the past three weeks ground beef went from 88 to 98 cents a pound. He said the wholesale prices leveled off this week, but added: "Everything we've heard nationally is that prices are going to go up until spring."

Three Persons In Burglary Ring Arrested

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff reported the arrest of 3 more persons involved in the ring of burglaries committed in the Northwestern part of Pickaway County. Michael Collins, 19, Mt. Sterling, was arrested by Detective Don Thompson, Monday.

Collins was involved in the Sept. 24 burglary of the Joseph H. Maurath residence, Boyd Road.

He was bound to grand jury Tuesday by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb, on a charge of grand larceny and breaking and entering in the night season.

Bond was set at $5,000 each. Timothy Lands, 18, Mt. Sterling, was arrested by authorities in Defiance and returned to Pickaway County Jail Tuesday.

He is awaiting a court hearing. Authorities in Cambridge have taken William Brumley into custody in connection with some of the local burglaries.

He will be transferred to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department after release from Guernsey County authorities.

Shooting Victim 'Improves'

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff reports that David L. Fish, 22, 369 Walnut Creek Pike, has been removed from the intensive care unit.

Fish was shot by an assailant during a robbery-shooting at the Schwan Ice Cream Depot, Route 22 and 56, 7:18 p.m. Friday.

Sheriff Radcliff is still investigating the incident.

State School Subsidies Released

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson announced today the release of state school subsidy payments for January. A total of $46,189,993.80 was allocated for the month to Ohio's 615 school districts this month.

Of that figure, Pickaway County and Circleville City schools received a total of $184,757.38.

Breakdown of the county allocation by district is as follows: Circleville City Schools, $64,826.65; Logan Elm, $36,313.50; Teays Valley, $47,097.12; Westfall, $36,520.11. Local school boards received a total of $7,078.75 and the county board received a direct allocation of $6,221.88.

Great Seal Park Land Purchased

State Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker (D-Bourneville), announced today that three separate parcels of land have been purchased for the Great Seal State Park at a cost of $210,300.

The three separate purchases (all in Ross county) were: $4,800 for 18.56 acres in Springfield Township; $5,500 for 10.90 acres in Springfield Township; and $200,000 for 214.42 acres in Green Township.

"The beauty of this area so impressed Ohio's forefathers that it inspired the design for the state's seal. If future generations are to enjoy this area, we must preserve and protect the area now," said Rep. Shoemaker.

The Great Seal Area has been approved for 50 per cent Federal participation under the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation program.

Pickaway Names Credit Manager

Amazing Assumption

Hardly a day passes that someone somewhere doesn't refer to the presumed custodial obligation of the U.S. toward the remainder of the free world. Perhaps this is a compliment to U.S. get-up-and-go.

It's the apparent consensus that only Uncle Sam has the ultimate responsibility for the free world's many social, economic and military problems. It's the further apparent consensus that none of these problems is so difficult that it will not yield to a little more money.

And the fact that the United States government, as a result of such thinking over the years, now owes almost half a billion dollars never seems to be taken into consideration.

An amazing number of people apparently assume that the economic regeneration of the world is readily within the competence of the United States government. This widespread belief is more amazing when it's recalled the United States government hasn't yet demonstrated any real ability to cope with its own growing problem of inflation.

A Notables' Month

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—The birthday dates of three lively Americans I know or knew are coming up as the month ends: Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Douglas MacArthur, and Bill Hearst, Jr. All within a few days.

I'll try to be as editorially aloof as I can of the three of them in the following mini-vignettes. If I fail, I'll have the consolation of an old Bugs Baer line (subsequently stolen left and right) "Half Aloof Is Better Than None."

Roosevelt, champion of the Common Man, was a magnificent snob. Right out of Central Casting. He seldom accepted advice, even if he asked for it. Never blew his stack. On the late afternoon (Washington time) of the bombing of Pearl Harbor, Franklin, Jr. arrived nervously at the Oval Office to tell his father that he guessed their scheduled dinner date had been called off. Not at all, FDR said with gusto. It was still on.

Then he went back to what he had been doing: bringing his stamp collection up to date.

FDR's press secretary, Steve Berly, was a horse player who sometimes touted his boss on promising nags running at Pimlico, Laurel or Bowie. One day while I was interviewing the President, thanks to the intercession of our late great White House man, George Durno, Berly came in with a tip on a goat named Nylon.

"No," said the leader of the Free World.

"Why not?" Steve asked. "Nylon can't run," FDR whooped, his long cigaret holder and its inserted Camel jiggling back and forth in self-appreciative glee.

It didn't take much to make him laugh. Or to grow dramatically sad. He was lying in bed in pajamas one day during World War II when a friend dropped by to marvel over the courage with which he was bearing his heavy burdens. FDR had a counter proposal, or a counter burden. He said to the sympathizer, in effect, "There are all sorts of burdens people bear. For example, how would you like to lie in bed, look down at your big toe, and for hours on end wish and hope and pray and struggle to make it move, move as little as a quarter of an inch, and it won't move? That can be tough, too."

The prime difference between FDR's White House and President Nixon's is a matter of attitude. Roosevelt received tons of abusive retorts after he made his "Pack the Court" Fireside Chat.

"What'll we do?" he asked Louis Howe, his man.

"Deny you made it," Louis said.

MacArthur would be amused today if he knew that a special wing of his marble resting place in Norfolk, Va., will be built to commemorate his contributions to Japan as a proconsul of peace rather than a symbol of its military defeat. A group of Japanese business tycoons is interested in financing it, as well they should. MacArthur was their Tom Jefferson, their savior, their inspiration to get out of the ashes and start anew, the liberator of their women, their guide to enormous new prestige and fortune.

Contrary to popular history, MacArthur and Harry Truman admired each other very much.

"Ol' Harry," who fired him, looked up to MacArthur with reverence. He admired and respected all Army men beyond the rank of captain. "Dugout Doug" cherished Truman, too. "A game little guy," he told me in the course of an interview, at a time when it was generally assumed they would mortally duel at dawn like Burr and Hamilton.

MacArthur had a wondrous voice and way with words that made anything he said, except that dreadfully ghosted keynote speech at the 1952 GOP Convention, sound as if it were eternally imbedded in granite. He could say "Good morning," and make it sound like a passage from the Gettysburg Address.

Bill Hearst won a Pulitzer Prize, along with his associates Kingsbury Smith and the late Frank Conniff, for an early foray into the Kremlin and an in-depth interview with its then shrouded leaders. One of the results of the reports was the treaty by which the Red Army of Occupation was pulled out of Austria. Another was the broad hint that Khrushchev, who wasn't a household word through the world, or even in the U.S.S.R., would soon be dictator. This was astutely deduced from the fact that when the Hearst team entered his modest sanctum Khrushchev said to an aid, "I'll take no calls..."

In subsequent travels with Bill, a thing that has impressed me is his complete lack of obsequiousness in the presence of majestic figures. In a later interview with Khrushchev, who was scaring the stuffings out of the world at the time, Bill said to him, "I've heard everything you've said and don't believe a word of it." Bill called President John F. Kennedy "Jack," LBJ "Lyndon" and Nixon "Dick," because he had known them for a long time, and he felt they were no different essentially from any other Americans. It wasn't a lack of respect, either, when upon being properly introduced to the somewhat austere (and recently late) Amb. Charles Cohen, Bill immediately addressed him as "Chip-so."

What better example for this business.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Soviets know how to buy better than any people I know," said Harold Scott, former assistant secretary of Commerce. "They have a trained cadre of professional buyers. They write superb contracts."

And, he added, they are eager to sell too.

If ambitious American companies and the Soviets could be brought together, it would seem, a great amount of trade and good will could be developed between the two giant nations. And that goal is now Scott's job.

As director of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Trade and Economic Council since its official beginning last Dec. 26, Scott's job is to facilitate transactions between groups in the two nations, whose systems are somewhat mysterious to each other.

"Some American businessmen don't even know who to approach about trading," said Scott, who was chosen by board of the council, which is made up of and supported equally by Americans and Soviets.

"The Russians, for their part, are enormously bureaucratic," he continued. "They are not used to seeing so many American businessmen." The latter are now calling regularly in Moscow.

"A lot of the American business community doesn't even know if it is right to do business there," Scott

And some Soviets, especially as you work your way down into the bureaucracy, Scott notes, have similarly rigid attitudes. "Trust is noticeably absent" at those depths, he said.

These, then, are among the differences and obstacles that the council will attempt to overcome.

In the Moscow office, for example, experts will provide the screening of businessmen that the Soviets need so badly. They will be able to tell an American company how it can sell its products, and tell the Soviets if a company is reputable and has a good product.

Interpreters will be provided. The council project manager will make appointments, advise the businessman on questions the Soviets might ask regarding technical specifications. They will translate the specifications.

The council, which is supported by the dues of its member organizations, will have a similar job facilitating Soviet contacts with U.S. companies through its New York office, where a staff is now working.

So far about 50 American companies belong. Dues for a company with sales below $100 million are $1,000 a year, ranging to $10,000 for billion-dollar corporations.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 23, the 23rd day of 1974. There are 342 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1973, President Nixon announced an accord in the Vietnam war, with a cease-fire to begin on Jan. 27.

On this date:

In 1542, England's Henry VIII took the title King of Ireland.

In 1799, French troops captured the Italian city of Naples.

In 1920, the Dutch refused to surrender ex-Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the Allies for punishment as a war criminal.

In 1943, in World War II, British troops entered the North African city of Tripoli.

In 1944, Allied troops were carving out the Anzio beachhead in Italy.

In 1932, Franklin Roosevelt announced he was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In 1968, North Korea seized the U.S. Navy ship Pueblo and held the 83 crewmen as spies.

Ten years ago: Indonesia and Malaysia agreed to a cease-fire in their undeclared border war.

Five years ago: Tornadoes swept through three counties of central Mississippi, killing 29 persons.

One year ago: Tribute was paid to former President Lyndon B. Johnson in Washington after his death.

Today's birthdays: Former Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg is 78. French actress Jeanne Moreau is 46.

Thought for today: It matters not how a man dies, but how he lives — Samuel Johnson, English scholar, 1709-1784.

J. C. Rader was high gun at the shoot held by the South Bloomfield Gun Club, breaking 100 of 100 clay targets.

The recent death of Caddy Miller who had been engaged in business in this city for 58 years has caused some discussion as to men engaged in trade here a half a century or more.

The cold wave promised for Friday came along, thank you, just on time. The thermometer fell from 35 to one below zero and sent shivers down one's vertebrae.

Carmelita Hall (2:06 1/4) trotted the Pinehurst, N.C., half mile track in 2:09 last week. This is unquestionably the fastest performance ever staged by a performer of like gait over a small oval in January. This mare, which was bred by Joseph S. Smith of Circleville, has raced with marked success for a number of seasons and despite her size and length of stride has shown remarkable ability on half mile tracks.

Finch Won't Seek Political Office

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Robert H. Finch has decided to follow the advice he once gave Richard M. Nixon: don't run for governor of California.

In 1962, Nixon disregarded the urging of his friend and lost a bitter contest for governor to Democrat Edmund G. Brown.

Twelve years later, Finch says he will not seek any political office in California in 1974.

Finch, 48, had been considered as a potential candidate for governor or the U.S. Senate ever since he left the Nixon administration a year ago. He served as presidential counselor and secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Already thousands of people are enthusiastically rushing to the ski slopes, many overextending their bodies after a year of rest from skiing.

Most will return home happy and exuberant, while more than a few will be delayed for weeks, depending on the seriousness of their accidents.

Skiing is an exhilarating sport, but it can be a hazardous one for novices and experts alike who fail to take heed of the basic precautions that make accidents avoidable.

It is imperative that skiers begin the season with progressive exercises at home in order to condition the muscles that have not been used for a year.

As with all other sports there must be no compromise with good, reliable, safe equipment. The investment in good skis, well-fitting boots, and safety bindings pays off dividends at the end of the ski holiday.

It is most important that every skier know his own limitations and take on the more difficult trails very gradually. Horseplay in this sport is a dangerous substitute for courtesy on the slopes. Rules on safety posted by the ski experts must be clearly adhered to.

Every injury to the shoulder, the wrist, the ankle or the knee should be inspected to be sure that no fracture is overlooked. The heroic pretense to deny pain or disability may convert a simple problem into a difficult one.

The joy of skiing is great. It can continue to be a happy experience if its potential dangers are respected.

An interesting psychological observation was brought to light when a group of 30 children was examined because of extreme and unusual fatigue.

Overexposure to long hours of continuous television viewing seemed to be responsible for restlessness, intense anxiety and poor sleeping habits, in addition to exhaustion.

Children easily become addicted to television unless reasonable limits are enforced by parents.

Scholastic achievements and good health both benefit markedly when outdoor play and physical exercise are substituted for uninterrupted hours of staring at a television screen.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

by BOB HARING
Associated Press Writer

A man reaches a peak when his first son gets old enough to shovel the snow.

Next he'll be big enough to be trusted with the power mower and Dear Old Dad can add a summer of no grass-cutting to the winter of no snow-shoveling and the fall of no leaf-raking.

This is the summit sighted when mother first announces that the first-born cleared the light snow from the sidewalk by himself for the first time.

But that joy is more a plateau than a peak.

For a boy willingly undertakes these tasks for a very limited number of years.

Soon his excitement at being allowed to shovel the snow by himself, his thrill at being trusted with the growling mower will fade. The joy of manly chores dims with the arrival of interest in sports or girls — or both — or the higher motive of performing for pay the tasks his parents once granted grudgingly as a reward for ascending boyhood.

In fairness, be it noted that such plateaus are not exclusively male domain. Girls may not pursue snow-shoveling or grass-cutting — although if that's their pleasure let 'em — but they follow similar trails through baby-sitting and dishwashing. The pigtailed cutie who begged for the honor of dishwashing at 8 wails with homework, colds, urgent telephone calls and coaching paralysis when offered that chance at 15.

If a man is lucky, his supply of sons may provide years of relief from sidewalk and lawn.

As one boy's interest slides off the plateau on the far side of snow-shoveling as recreation, the next becomes old enough to demand his chance.

It is a wise father who encourages the toddler to trail his big brother into the cold armed with a toy shovel and a willing spirit of imitation.

If there is a rule to such things, it is that the second son will start earlier than the first. And the third earlier still.

But the flame which burns earlier dies sooner and the boy who starts his snow removal career at 6 will weary of that job that many years earlier.

Possibly interest may be spurred in its declining moments by rotating the task. When two boys are equally capable of performing a chore, the one who's being honored gets designated — that sort of honor system psychologically gets more snow removed faster than a process which selects for the task the boy who's been least good most recently.

Among boys, tasks must be rotated though, and not shared.

The snow it takes one boy one hour to shovel takes two boys two hours.

Or, as the wise old men of the Ozark hills declared long ago:

One boy's a hand, two boys is half a hand and three boys ain't no hand at all.

HAL BOYLE IS ILL.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Please print this message to teenagers: There are many fine young people all over. Unfortunately there are some young people who do things that are very hard for the rest of us to understand. We are referring to a type of "inhumanity to man".

Just recently, in the Columbus and Pickaway County area there have been situations like these: A high school basketball game had to be scheduled and played in secret to protect the students from a repetition of the violent rivalry that had occurred the previous year. A study hall class goaded and teased a semi-retired man who had been hired as monitor until he had to resign. Another class at the same school drove a teacher until he had a nervous breakdown. After games, the students wait around asking the opponents, "Do you want a fight?" and refer to each other as "Enemies" and not "Rivals".

These same students laugh about these things and seem to be proud of what they have done. We, like many others, are tired of hearing people say things like, "Kids will be kids", "Well, the teacher was mean and deserves what he got", "They did it to us so we'll get them back", "I hate . . .", "We hate . . .".

The young people talk about free love. How about "freely expressing love", which means: Respect human life, no matter who's it is!

Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. PETER McQUAIN
Ashville, Ohio

A difference of two degrees lower in winter and higher in summer in heating and air-conditioning units in U.S. homes could save the equivalent of 100 million tons of coal per year, says Arthur D. Little, head of a research and management consulting firm.

"Ol' Harry," who fired him, looked up to MacArthur with reverence. He admired and respected all Army men beyond the rank of captain. "Dugout Doug" cherished Truman, too. "A game little guy," he told me in the course of an interview, at a time when it was generally assumed they would mortally duel at dawn like Burr and Hamilton.

MacArthur had a wondrous voice and way with words that made anything he said, except that dreadfully ghosted keynote speech at the 1952 GOP Convention, sound as if it were eternally imbedded in granite. He could say "Good morning," and make it sound like a passage from the Gettysburg Address.

Bill Hearst won a Pulitzer Prize, along with his associates Kingsbury Smith and the late Frank Conniff, for an early foray into the Kremlin and an in-depth interview with its then shrouded leaders. One of the results of the reports was the treaty by which the Red Army of Occupation was pulled out of Austria. Another was the broad hint that Khrushchev, who wasn't a household word through the world, or even in the U.S.S.R., would soon be dictator. This was astutely deduced from the fact that when the Hearst team entered his modest sanctum Khrushchev said to an aid, "I'll take no calls..."

In subsequent travels with Bill, a thing that has impressed me is his complete lack of obsequiousness in the presence of majestic figures. In a later interview with Khrushchev, who was scaring the stuffings out of the world at the time, Bill said to him, "I've heard everything you've said and don't believe a word of it." Bill called President John F. Kennedy "Jack," LBJ "Lyndon" and Nixon "Dick," because he had known them for a long time, and he felt they were no different essentially from any other Americans. It wasn't a lack of respect, either, when upon being properly introduced to the somewhat austere (and recently late) Amb. Charles Cohen, Bill immediately addressed him as "Chip-so."

What better example for this business.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Soviets know how to buy better than any people I know," said Harold Scott, former assistant secretary of Commerce. "They have a trained cadre of professional buyers. They write superb contracts."

And, he added, they are eager to sell too.

If ambitious American companies and the Soviets could be brought together, it would seem, a great amount of trade and good will could be developed between the two giant nations. And that goal is now Scott's job.

As director of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Trade and Economic Council since its official beginning last Dec. 26, Scott's job is to facilitate transactions between groups in the two nations, whose systems are somewhat mysterious to each other.

"Some American businessmen don't even know who to approach about trading," said Scott, who was chosen by board of the council, which is made up of and supported equally by Americans and Soviets.

"The Russians, for their part, are enormously bureaucratic," he continued. "They are not used to seeing so many American businessmen." The latter are now calling regularly in Moscow.

"A lot of the American business community doesn't even know if it is right to do business there," Scott

And some Soviets, especially as you work your way down into the bureaucracy, Scott notes, have similarly rigid attitudes. "Trust is noticeably absent" at those depths, he said.

These, then, are among the differences and obstacles that the council will attempt to overcome.

In the Moscow office, for example, experts will provide the screening of businessmen that the Soviets need so badly. They will be able to tell an American company how it can sell its products, and tell the Soviets if a company is reputable and has a good product.

Interpreters will be provided. The council project manager will make appointments, advise the businessman on questions the Soviets might ask regarding technical specifications. They will translate the specifications.

The council, which is supported by the dues of its member organizations, will have a similar job facilitating Soviet contacts with U.S. companies through its New York office, where a staff is now working.

So far about 50 American companies belong. Dues for a company with sales below $100 million are $1,000 a year, ranging to $10,000 for billion-dollar corporations.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 23, the 23rd day of 1974. There are 342 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1973, President Nixon announced an accord in the Vietnam war, with a cease-fire to begin on Jan. 27.

On this date: In 1542, England's Henry VIII took the title King of Ireland.

In 1799, French troops captured the Italian city of Naples.

In 1920, the Dutch refused to surrender ex-Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the Allies for punishment as a war criminal.

In 1943, in World War II, British troops entered the North African city of Tripoli.

In 1944, Allied troops were carving out the Anzio beachhead in Italy.

In 1932, Franklin Roosevelt announced he was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In 1968, North Korea seized the U.S. Navy ship Pueblo and held the 83 crewmen as spies.

Ten years ago: Indonesia and Malaysia agreed to a cease-fire in their undeclared border war.

Five years ago: Tornadoes swept through three counties of central Mississippi, killing 29 persons.

One year ago: Tribute was paid to former President Lyndon B. Johnson in Washington after his death.

Today's birthdays: Former Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg is 78. French actress Jeanne Moreau is 46.

Thought for today: It matters not how a man dies, but how he lives — Samuel Johnson, English scholar, 1709-1784.

What better example for this business.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Already thousands of people are enthusiastically rushing to the ski slopes, many overextending their bodies after a year of rest from skiing.

Most will return home happy and exuberant, while more than a few will be delayed for weeks, depending on the seriousness of their accidents.

Skiing is an exhilarating sport, but it can be a hazardous one for novices and experts alike who fail to take heed of the basic precautions that make accidents avoidable.

It is imperative that skiers begin the season with progressive exercises at home in order to condition the muscles that have not been used for a year.

As with all other sports there must be no compromise with good, reliable, safe equipment. The investment in good skis, well-fitting boots, and safety bindings pays off dividends at the end of the ski holiday.

It is most important that every skier know his own limitations and take on the more difficult trails very gradually. Horseplay in this sport is a dangerous substitute for courtesy on the slopes. Rules on safety posted by the ski experts must be clearly adhered to.

Every injury to the shoulder, the wrist, the ankle or the knee should be inspected to be sure that no fracture is overlooked. The heroic pretense to deny pain or disability may convert a simple problem into a difficult one.

The joy of skiing is great. It can continue to be a happy experience if its potential dangers are respected.

An interesting psychological observation was brought to light when a group of 30 children was examined because of extreme and unusual fatigue.

Overexposure to long hours of continuous television viewing seemed to be responsible for restlessness, intense anxiety and poor sleeping habits, in addition to exhaustion.

Children easily become addicted to television unless reasonable limits are enforced by parents.

Scholastic achievements and good health both benefit markedly when outdoor play and physical exercise are substituted for uninterrupted hours of staring at a television screen.

The cold wave promised for Friday came along, thank you, just on time. The thermometer fell from 35 to one below zero and sent shivers down one's vertebrae.

Carmelita Hall (2:06 1/4) trotted the Pinehurst, N.C., half mile track in 2:09 last week. This is unquestionably the fastest performance ever staged by a performer of like gait over a small oval in January. This mare, which was bred by Joseph S. Smith of Circleville, has raced with marked success for a number of seasons and despite her size and length of stride has shown remarkable ability on half mile tracks.

Finch Won't Seek Political Office

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Robert H. Finch has decided to follow the advice he once gave Richard M. Nixon: don't run for governor of California.

In 1962, Nixon disregarded the urging of his friend and lost a bitter contest for governor to Democrat Edmund G. Brown.

Twelve years later, Finch says he will not seek any political office in California in 1974.

Finch, 48, had been considered as a potential candidate for governor or the U.S. Senate ever since he left the Nixon administration a year ago. He served as presidential counselor and secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

by BOB HARING

Associated Press Writer

A man reaches a peak when his first son gets old enough to shovel the snow.

Next he'll be big enough to be trusted with the power mower and Dear Old Dad can add a summer of no grass-cutting to the winter of no snow-shoveling and the fall of no leaf-raking.

This is the summit sighted when mother first announces that the first-born cleared the light snow from the sidewalk by himself for the first time.

But that joy is more a plateau than a peak.

For a boy willingly undertakes these tasks for a very limited number of years.

Soon his excitement at being allowed to shovel the snow by himself, his thrill at being trusted with the growling, mower will fade. The joy of many chores dims with the arrival of interest in sports or girls — or both — or the higher motive of performing for pay the tasks his parents once granted grudgingly as a reward for ascending boyhood.

In fairness, be it noted that such plateaus are not exclusively male domain. Girls may not pursue snow-shoveling or grass-cutting — although if that's their pleasure let 'em — but they follow similar trails through baby-sitting and dishwashing. The pig-tailed cutie who begged for the honor of dishwashing at 8 wails with homework, colds, urgent telephone calls and approaching paralysis when offered that chance at 15.

If a man is lucky, his supply of sons may provide years of relief from sidewalk and lawn.

As one boy's interest slides off the plateau on the far side of snow-shoveling as recreation, the next becomes old enough to demand his chance.

It is a wise father who encourages the toddler to trail his big brother into the cold armed with a toy shovel and a willing spirit of imitation.

If there is a rule to such things, it is that the second son will start earlier than the first. And the third earlier still.

But the flame which burns earlier dies sooner and the boy who starts his snow removal career at 6 will weary of that job that many years earlier.

Possibly interest may be spurred in its declining moments by rotating the task. When two boys are equally capable of performing a chore, the one who's being honored gets designated — that sort of honor system psychologically gets more snow removed faster than a process which selects for the task the boy who's been least good most recently.

Among boys, tasks must be rotated though, and not shared.

The snow it takes one boy one hour to shovel takes two boys two hours.

Or, as the wise old men of the Ozark hills declared long ago:

One boy's a hand, two boys is half a hand and three boys ain't no hand at all.

HAL BOYLE IS ILL.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Please print this message to teenagers: There are many fine young people all over. Unfortunately there are some young people who do things that are very hard for the rest of us to understand. We are referring to a type of "inhumanity to man".

Just recently, in the Columbus and Pickaway County area there have been situations like these: A high school basketball game had to be scheduled and played in secret to protect the students from a repetition of the violent rivalry that had occurred the previous year. A study hall class goaded and teased a semi-retired man who had been hired as monitor until he had to resign. Another class at the same school drove a teacher until he had a nervous breakdown. After games, the students wait around asking the opponents, "Do you want a fight?", and refer to each other as "Enemies" and not "Rivals".

These same students laugh about these things and seem to be proud of what they have done. We, like many others, are tired of hearing people say things like, "Kids will be kids", "Well, the teacher was mean and deserves what he got", "They did it to us so we'll get them back", "I hate . . .", "We hate . . .".

The young people talk about free love. How about "freely expressing love", which means: Respect human life, no matter who's it is!

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. PETER McQUAIN

A difference of two degrees lower in winter and higher in summer in heating and air-conditioning units in U.S. homes could save the equivalent of 100 million tons of coal per year, says Arthur D. Little, head of a research and management consulting firm.

County To Receive Government Funds

Pickaway County will receive $12,500 of $3,402,505.38 in Local Government Funds distributed to Ohio's counties having local income taxes in December, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Beginning with January distributions each county will receive at least $12,500 a month in local government funds.

This procedure, established by Ferguson's office in accordance with the new state law, guarantees each county a minimum of $150,000 in such funds annually, to assist the counties in budgeting.

The money is obtained by taking 3.5 per cent of state collections of sale, income and corporation taxes on a monthly basis.

According to Ferguson, using the percentage factor in the formula causes the monthly amount available to the local governmental units to fluctuate monthly.

ALL WEATHER BANKING AT THE SAVINGS AUTO BANK MEMBER FDIC

We'll guarantee you a new home this Spring at the Fall '73 price. In writing!

Until January 31st, your Ridge Homes dealer can give you a written price guarantee that saves you hundreds of dollars on a new home.

Today, building costs are skyrocketing—and new home prices everywhere are going up hundreds and hundreds of dollars. But if you act now, you can protect your family's dream of owning a new home with Ridge Homes' written price guarantee. It assures you the Fall '73 price on all our models.

How the Guarantee Works

To get your price guarantee, you must see your Ridge Homes dealer and make a refundable deposit of only $100 before the January 31st deadline. Then, pick out the exact model you want—and accept delivery on your new home as late as June 30th.

If you change your mind later, for any reason whatsoever, Ridge Homes will refund your deposit every penny of it. You can't lose. You'll be saving hundreds of dollars over those higher '74 new home prices—and with plenty of time to firm up your plans to build.

And that's not all. If your local interest rates drop later, you can reduce your monthly payments by converting to a local mortgage. And with Ridge Homes you won't pay the costly prepayment penalty that most others charge.

Don't delay—see your Ridge Homes dealer TODAY. Make your $100 refundable deposit and get your price guarantee before the January 31st deadline. Then, you'll be protected no matter how high prices go—and you'll be saving hundreds of dollars on your new home.

Ridge Homes' convenient mortgage program.

Today, when local lenders are short on cash and forced to say, "no"—Ridge Homes is happy to say, "yes." We're providing mortgages to thousands of families. And you'll find our down payment requirement is surprisingly low. In fact, once you qualify, you can probably move into a Ridge home with as little out-of-pocket cash as one month's rent.

Did you know you can choose to put off making your first mortgage payment until five months after your new home has been delivered? You can!

But you must get this Guarantee before January 31st.

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Wednesday January 23, 1974

Marriage Vows Exchanged In Afternoon Ceremony

Salem United Church of Christ in Chillicothe was the setting Dec. 29th for the marriage of Miss Julie Anne Brown and Mr. William Herbert Smith.

The Rev. Ralph Huber officiated the 4 p.m. ceremony, for the daughter of Mrs. Harold L. Brown, Route 8, Chillicothe and the late Mr. Harold L. Brown, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion I. Smith, 957 S. Pickaway St., Circleville.

Mr. Jeffrey Hamm of Newark, cousin of the bride, was pianist.

Mr. Frederick Brown and Mr. David Brown gave their sister in marriage. The bride selected a formal length ecru gown in a rose and yellow floral design. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow rosebuds.

Miss Carrie Frederici was bridesmaid in a street length dress of mint green double knit. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Michele Brown was flower girl and her sister, Kimberly, was the ring bearer. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brown.

Mr. Paul Winks of Circleville served as best man. Guests were seated by Mr. Stephen Smith of Columbus and Mr. Irvin Smith of Circleville, brothers of the bridegroom.

A reception in the social room of the church immediately followed the ceremony.

The bride graduated from Chillicothe High School in 1973 and is currently attending Ohio University in Chillicothe.

The bridegroom, a 1972 graduate of Circleville High School, is also enrolled at Ohio University in Chillicothe. He is employed by Sohio Oil of Kingston. The couple now resides at Route 8, Chillicothe.

Logan Elm Garden Club Makes Bread Dough Flowers

Logan Elm Garden Club members made bread dough flowers at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie, Route 4.

The hostess read "Smiles" and "Real Happiness" for meditation. Roll call was answered by the 12 members present telling of a project planned for the new year.

Mrs. Neil Morris and Mrs. Frank Graves told of gifts made by members which were given to residents of a nursing home and how well they were received.

The District Meeting was discussed and members urged to take part. Mrs. Harold Edwards will host the presidents of Pickaway Council of Garden Clubs in her home on Jan. 28th.

Letters were read from Pickaway

County Red Cross Chapter thanking the club for table arrangements sent to Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe and from Ohio Chapter of the Nature Conservancy thanking the club for its contribution toward purchasing Stages Pond and surrounding area.

The tour committee discussed some tours to be considered by the club. It was reported that Mrs. Turney Pontius, a club member, is recovering from an illness.

The chance gift was brought by Mrs. Wayne Morris and won by Mrs. Frank Graves. The next gift will be brought by Mrs. Judson Beougher in whose home the next meeting will be held.

Flowers made under the direction of Mrs. Harold Edwards included roses, dogwood and pansies. Also made were interesting little butterflies.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Can't Take All Credit

DEAR ABBY: A Mr. A. W. Lyons of Prospect, Ky., wrote to say that man is the only animal that practices group sex. He is mistaken. Probably the best known example is the California sea hare.

Sea hares have a complete set of both male and female sex organs, and can assume either role. In laboratory studies, sea hares have been observed copulating in groups; as many as eight have copulated in a complete circle for as long as three days!

So, please pass this on to Mr. Lyons and your readers. We know of at least one other animal besides man that practices group sex. And wouldn't you know it would have to happen in California!

RICHARD JOSSLIN, Ph.D.
San Pedro, Cal.

DEAR Dr. J.: The orgy you cite is no secret. It's recorded in the Natural History of Marine Animals. And by the way, Jane Goodall, who lived for ten years among wild chimpanzees while she studied them, reported that a female chimp named "Flo" had a battalion of suitors standing in line for her favors.

DEAR ABBY: I'm glad you told that 17-year-old girl to save herself for marriage. She said she'd heard that most fellows don't care if the girl they marry is a virgin or not.

I am 16, and I have made up my mind that on my wedding night I am going to be able to say to my husband, "Yes, Darling, YOU are the first!"

WAITING IN SEATTLE
DEAR WAITING: Lovely. And someday you may want to say, "And the first shall be the last."

DEAR ABBY: "Alone and Crying's" story was my story. I too loved my first husband with all my heart until one day he told me he no longer wanted the responsibility of marriage. As it turned out, he wanted the responsibility of another woman.

I also cried and begged and kissed him while he stood there "cold and unfeeling like a statue with his hand in his pockets."

Your advice, "quit begging and prepare to make a new life for yourself because good luck often comes disguised as disaster," was the most precious statement you ever wrote.

A year after my divorce I met the most wonderful man in the world. He is 100 times the man my first husband

Missionary Society Discusses Money Making Projects

Plans were made for money making projects during the recent meeting of the Missionary Society of Laurelville Church of God in the church basement.

Members planned to make and sell noodles and to cook and serve food for the church's Sweetheart Banquet for youth of the church in February.

The business meeting was opened with prayer by Margie Ebert, president. Mrs. Ebert read a letter from Martha Mathis concerning election of state officers for the Southeastern Ohio Missionary Societies. Secret pal names were drawn for the year.

Thank you cards were read from people who received fruit baskets for Christmas from the society.

For devotions Josephine Hardman read scripture concerning sanctification and the poem "The World's Bible."

Prayer by Bertha Wiggins closed the meeting and refreshments were served by Shirley Moreno and Margie Ebert.

Auxiliary Visits Hospital Patients

Twenty-six patients of ward 211C, Chillicothe Veterans Hospital, were served pumpkin pie, ice cream, punch, cheese curls and candy during the January visit of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary. The evening was spent playing games and visiting with the patients.

Mrs. Robert Stephens, veterans affairs and rehabilitation chairman, was assisted by Mrs. John Sabine, Mrs. Bess Simison, Mrs. Herbert Stinson, Mrs. Stenobe Stonerock, Miss Maggie Mavis, Mrs. Harold Hoffman, Mrs. Cleo Caudill and Mrs. Harry Walsh, American Legion Auxiliary hospital representative.

Purple Heather Lodge Plans Dinner-Dance

Income Tax Has Effect On Schools

Per pupil investment by Ohio's elementary and secondary schools during the 1972-73 school year gained $92.40 over the previous year, Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex reported today. This additional money brings the statewide average to $887.87.

Essex stated, "the improved investment reflects the first full school year in which state assistance to education was substantially increased under income tax funded legislation.

The graduated state income tax enacted by the 109th General Assembly in Dec. 1971, included a ten per cent rebate for all property owners in Ohio, and at the same time increased state aid to education by 50 per cent. According to Essex, this new money has decreased the number of school levies of the ballot.

In the 1971-72 school year, the average investment per pupil statewide totaled $795.47.

OU-L Offers Tax Clinic

The eighth annual income tax clinic will be held at the Lancaster Campus of Ohio University starting Feb. 6 and continuing on Wednesday evenings for a total of three meetings. The two-hour sessions will start at 7:30 p.m.

The clinic will aid an individual in preparing the personal income tax return for the 1973 tax year. Income, expenses, business deductions donations and other items to be included in the long form 1040 will be given consideration. Recent changes in the Federal tax law will be discussed.

Registration in the class can be completed at the campus during regular office hours, 8 a.m. - 8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A Grave Business

By JIM BISHOP

The grave is man's final obscene gesture to himself. It is a waste of space and lavish trappings for someone who lives elsewhere. Unless, of course, there is no elsewhere, in which case he now lives nowhere.

Some people revere graves, placing posies six feet above one who can neither see nor smell. Many pray at gravesides. Some families, traveling a distance, bring a picnic lunch. As a boy, I carried sprinkling cans with water for graves at five cents a carry.

In Los Angeles, Forest Lawn, with its music and statuary, is Death's Disneyland. In Woodlawn, at New York, a bronze angel fights the metal door to "Bet-You-a-Million" Gates' mausoleum, though I am sure he would lay six to one the angel can't pick the lock.

A rich lady lost a boy. Instead of a headstone, she had a marble bench built with a statue of him occupying one side, and room on the other side for mother to commune with the statue. That was long ago. Now she's gone and the boy looks forlorn sitting alone.

I bought three graves in a sober moment. Why three? There was a discount. I had the paid-up deed and it was stamped perpetual care. I do not know how anyone can pledge anything in perpetuity, but I am philosophical by nature and I figured that there was no way for me to arise and complain if the grass wasn't cut.

Nor, for that matter, was there any guarantee that the priests who administered the granite grove would not

Kingston MYF Honors Pastor

The Kingston United Methodist Youth Fellowship met Jan. 20 with 18 members present.

A special candlelight program was planned with the Rev. Casto guest of honor. Kristi Davis read a poem entitled "Unselfishness" and Julie Wright played a piano solo, "He's Everything To Me."

Devotions were conducted by Pete Shaffer and Bob Siefert, with a reading from the Bible and a discussion on "Love".

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and kool aid, were served to the members.

The Youth Fellowship will meet Feb. 3 to attend the movie "Time To Run" showing at the theatre in Chillicothe.

be below decks before me. In which case one of us would have run out of luck — though it is debatable which one.

The graves went on for years. With supreme effort, they grew weeds. My old man saw the deed while looking for insurance policies on day and said: "I have reserved dying as the last thing I want to do." I accused him of reading it somewhere. He said it was original.

Seventeen years ago, my wife Elinor died while I was at sea. It was unexpected and a depressive gloom settled over the family. The doctor said it was an acute diverticulitis, something discovered on a Saturday, operated on on Monday, patient expired of peritonitis on Thursday.

Wakes, especially Irish wakes, are designed to wrench the last tear drop and attune the minds of the living to the fact that it is later than they think. Among the mourners were John and Mary Foley, so poor that they needed a co-maker to get bus fare.

Aunt Mary was my baby-sitter a long time ago. She was stout and old — perhaps simple-minded. But I loved that woman. She had a congenital speech impediment, and I was one of the few who could understand her. And hug her when I didn't.

John looked like an overage jockey. Two beers and he wanted to fight the biggest clown in the place. Three and he would try to reduce a tavern to a parking lot. He was all tough. He was all heart, no head.

They knew that Elinor didn't like them, but they paid their last respects anyway. Mrs. B. had well-muscled likes and dislikes. In all our years I never knew her to alter an adverse opinion.

John whispered: "Mary and me won't have to worry. The Veterans Administration will bury us." I said, "That's lovely," because any other response could presage a loud disagreement. "Lovely."

Years later, Mary died. John was bereft, head and shoulders on a kitchen table. I looked through his papers. The V.A. would not bury Mary. He didn't have a dime. So I said: "Put Mary in next to Elinor." They were not exactly buddies, but I, the living person, loved them both.

John thought I was generous. He began to dislike me at once. Mutual friends said he was angry because I stopped sending the monthly pittance which used to go to Mary.

A few years later, I received a phone call from a hospital. "We have a John Foley," the nurse said. "He says you are his next of kin." It was untrue, but the nurse said he would expire quickly. I was 1,500 miles away, so I told her to tell John-if he knew he was departing — that he could rest beside Mary.

Word came back that Foley expected to lie beside his Mary in any case. So he went. And that took the last good seat I had. Now and then, I visit the weeds and utter a prayer. It occurs to me that I do more mumbling than they did with each other.

There is no morbidity in the thought that I have no place to go. Nor do I plan to buy more narrow real estate. It's the ultimate put-down . . .

New BIG BEAR Meat Identity Program Helps You Shop and Cook With Confidence!

HERE'S WHAT OUR MEAT LABELING DOES FOR YOU . . .

Match our new and improved system of meat identity labeling with the beef, pork, lamb and veal retail meat charts on display in our meat department (note BEEF CHART below), and you're on your way to quicker and easier shopping every time. Cooking methods recommended on the charts tell you how to prepare and serve the many cuts of meat with all the tempting flavor and savory goodness your entire family will enjoy.

- 1 KIND OF MEAT—No need to guess on the kind of meat. First, on every label is the kind of meat—BEEF, PORK, LAMB or VEAL.
- 2 PRIMAL (WHOLESALE) CUT—CHUCK, RIB, LOIN or ROUND—tells where the meat comes from.
- 3 SPECIFIC PORTION OR RETAIL CUT—BLADE POT-ROAST, SIRLOIN STEAK, or TOP ROUND STEAK—tells you exactly what part of the primal cut the meat comes from (see the chart below).

FOUR LARGE CHARTS OF RETAIL MEAT CUTS, for your convenience, are on display in all our stores. Beef (the one shown here) pork, lamb and veal charts will help you identify our cuts of meat on display and suggest approved ways for cooking them.

IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about our new meat identification program, ask our meat department people the next time you're in our store, Or Call Our Home Economist, Betty Brown, At 221-5361

MEAT IDENTITY LABELING conforms to the nationwide UNIFORM RETAIL MEAT IDENTITY STANDARDS and is endorsed by the NATIONAL LIVE STOCK & MEAT BOARD

A Step Ahead in Consumer Service

OUR NEW IDENTITY LABELING tells you WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW.

HERE IS THE KIND OF MEAT

THIS IS THE WHOLESALE CUT (Where the Meat Comes From)

HERE'S WHERE YOU'LL FIND THE RETAIL CUT NAME

Homemaker's Hint

My job here is working for you - providing consumer services that will help you learn more about the products in our store. And in the case of meat, help you select the cuts you want more quickly & more easily than ever before. Our new meat identity labeling program can help homemakers in many ways:

MENU VARIETY — If you want to take advantage of the tremendous variety offered in our meat department, you can prepare a different meat dish every day of the year! Even though you're not looking for that much variety, being familiar with large number of cuts in our meat counters will certainly add flexibility to your menu planning.

FOOD BUDGET ECONOMY — By knowing your cuts of meat, there will be times when you'll be able to select cuts that are in less demand at substantial savings and with very satisfactory cooking results. Being familiar with meat cuts is sure to pay off in greater savings in your food budget.

EXPECT BETTER COOKING RESULTS when you can properly identify cuts of meat and then follow the proper methods of preparation.

UNIFORM MEAT LABELING NATIONWIDE — The National Live-stock and Meatboard is urging all supermarkets across the country to label their meats to conform to the nationwide retail meat identity standards. For the shopper, this will mean even if she moves from one section of the county to another, she can expect to find meat labeled in the same manner as she has been accustomed to. In other words, regional names such as California Roasts or Patio Chops will be eliminated - along with a lot of confusion!

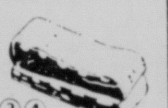

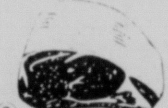

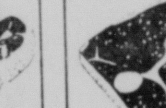

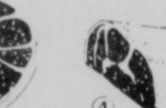

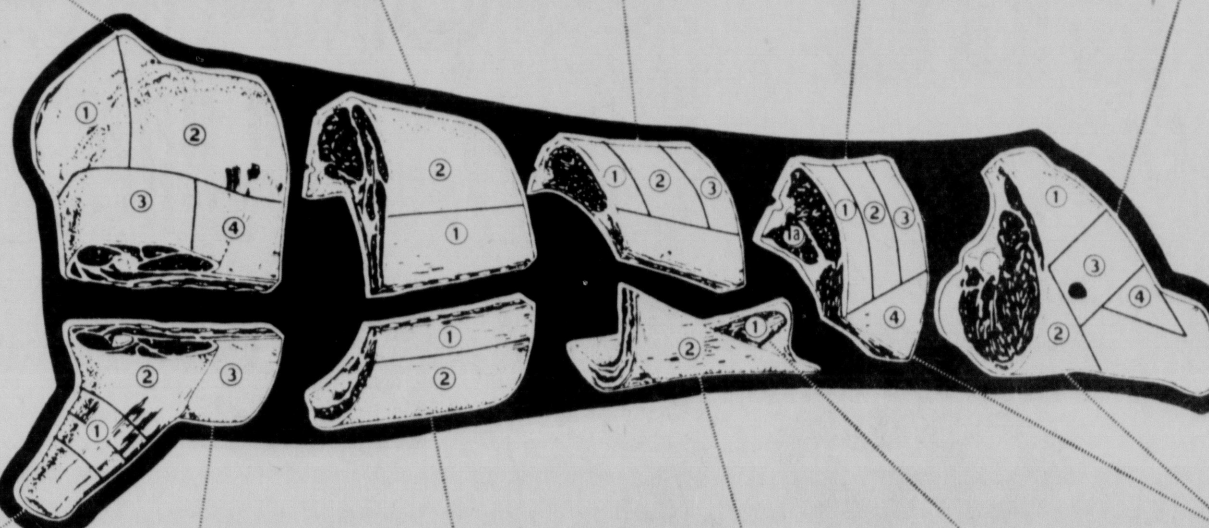

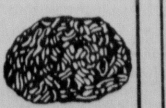

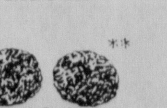

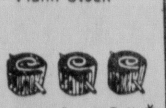

We hope you find this new meat identity labeling program a big help in menu-planning, shopping and cooking. It's our way of helping you do your job a little better, while we do ours better too!

Our Ground Beef Meets High Industry Standards, Plus . . .

You'll be glad to know that our new meat identity labeling program also applies to ground beef. As always, our GROUND BEEF is pure beef, ground only from skeletal meat (muscle attached to the skeleton) with no variety meats or trimmings from veal, pork, or lamb added.

We guarantee our ground beef to be 100% pure beef, ground fresh many times daily and rigidly controlled for leanness by expert meat cutters.

Now watch for percent of lean on the label! It's our guarantee of lean-to-fat content and your best indicator of ground beef that fits the particular dish or meal you're planning.

"NOT LESS THAN 70% or 83% LEAN", for instance, means that 70% or 83% of the meat in the package is lean ground beef. Actually, we grind our beef leaner than shown in the label. That's our way of making sure you get the amount of lean you're paying for.

Which ground beef to buy? It all depends on personal preference and how you plan to use it in your meal preparation.

Here Are Some Suggestions . . .

70% lean ground beef is good for beef burgers, Sloppy Joes, chili and spaghetti sauce.

77% lean ground beef is recommended for meat loaf, meat balls, Salisbury steak, tamale pie, beef and noodle and beef and rice casseroles.

83% lean ground beef is excellent for people on low-calorie or low fat diets.

New BIG BEAR Meat Identity Program Helps You Shop and Cook With Confidence!

HERE'S WHAT OUR MEAT LABELING DOES FOR YOU . . .

Match our new and improved system of meat identity labeling with the beef, pork, lamb and veal retail meat charts on display in our meat department (note BEEF CHART below), and you're on your way to quicker and easier shopping every time. Cooking methods recommended on the charts tell you how to prepare and serve the many cuts of meat with all the tempting flavor and savory goodness your entire family will enjoy.

- 1 KIND OF MEAT—No need to guess on the kind of meat. First, on every label is the kind of meat—BEEF, PORK, LAMB or VEAL.
- 2 PRIMAL (WHOLESALE) CUT—CHUCK, RIB, LOIN or ROUND—tells where the meat comes from.
- 3 SPECIFIC PORTION OR RETAIL CUT—BLADE POT-ROAST, SIRLOIN STEAK, or TOP ROUND STEAK—tells you exactly what part of the primal cut the meat comes from (see the chart below).

FOUR LARGE CHARTS OF RETAIL MEAT CUTS, for your convenience, are on display in all our stores. Beef (the one shown here) pork, lamb and veal charts will help you identify our cuts of meat on display and suggest approved ways for cooking them.

IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about our new meat identification program, ask our meat department people the next time you're in our store, Or Call Our Home Economist, Betty Brown, At 221-5361

MEAT IDENTITY LABELING conforms to the nationwide UNIFORM RETAIL MEAT IDENTITY STANDARDS and is endorsed by the NATIONAL LIVE STOCK & MEAT BOARD

A Step Ahead in Consumer Service

OUR NEW IDENTITY LABELING tells you WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW.

Homemaker's Hint

My job here is working for you - providing consumer services that will help you learn more about the products in our store. And in the case of meat, help you select the cuts you want more quickly & more easily than ever before. Our new meat identity labeling program can help homemakers in many ways:

MENU VARIETY — If you want to take advantage of the tremendous variety offered in our meat department, you can prepare a different meat dish every day of the year! Even though you're not looking for that much variety, being familiar with large number of cuts in our meat counters will certainly add flexibility to your menu planning.

FOOD BUDGET ECONOMY — By knowing your cuts of meat, there will be times when you'll be able to select cuts that are in less demand at substantial savings and with very satisfactory cooking results. Being familiar with meat cuts is sure to pay off in greater savings in your food budget.

EXPECT BETTER COOKING RESULTS when you can properly identify cuts of meat and then follow the proper methods of preparation.

UNIFORM MEAT LABELING NATIONWIDE — The National Livestock and Meatboard is urging all supermarkets across the country to label their meats to conform to the nationwide retail meat identity standards. For the shopper, this will mean even if she moves from one section of the county to another, she can expect to find meat labeled in the same manner as she has been accustomed to. In other words, regional names such as California Roasts or Patio Chops will be eliminated - along with a lot of confusion!

We hope you find this new meat identity labeling program a big help in menu-planning, shopping and cooking. It's our way of helping you do your job a little better, while we do ours better too!

Testimony Heard In Mass Murders

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dean A. Corll, alleged mastermind in the slayings of 27 teenagers, shouted "kill me ... kill me" before he was shot to death last August, a witness has testified.

Timothy Kerley, 20, took the stand in a pretrial hearing on Tuesday and testified he was marked for death at a party in Corll's suburban Pasadena home last Aug. 8.

He said he was saved when Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, pulled a gun and CBC CHOIR—The Circleville Bible College Choir will present a sacred concert 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Jefferson Church of Christ In Christian Union. The Rev. L. Heimbach, pastor, invites everyone to attend.

shot the 33-year-old Corll five or six times.

Henley is to testify today at the pretrial hearing, being held in advance of Henley's murder trial in the death of Charles R. Cobble, 17.

Kerley, Henley and Rhonda Williams, 15, had passed out at the Corll home after sniffing paint and drinking beer and liquor. All three awoke to find themselves bound and gagged.

"I had enough sense to be aware that I was to be killed," Kerley testified.

Henley was released by Corll. Police have said Henley told them the other two were stripped nude and tied to a large plywood board in a bedroom.

Miss Williams also testified Tuesday. But she was allowed to give her account behind closed doors in the chambers of District Court Judge William Hatten because she is a juvenile.

Kerley testified Corll was about to sexually assault him when Henley intervened.

"Wayne said, 'You've gone far enough, Dean.' Dean jumped up and ran at him with his hands raised and said, 'Kill me, Wayne, kill me.' And that's what he did," Kerley said.

Corll's death has been ruled self-defense.

"Wayne said maybe we should just leave. I said no, we should call the police, and he said okay," Kerley testified.

The three went out on the sidewalk after calling police. Henley then said "he had done that four or five times," Kerley testified.

Under questioning by defense lawyer Will Gray, Kerley said Henley had not said he had killed four or five persons, but that was what Kerley interpreted the statement to mean.

Henley is charged with six counts of murder in the slayings.

Ziegler Becomes Operative Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, a survivor of high-level recommendations that he be replaced because he lacked credibility, is back confronting the media again.

"I intend to give more briefings," Ziegler announced Tuesday. He had just surprised the White House press corps by returning to the press room podium after a lengthy absence from regular briefings.

Ziegler's credibility was shaken last year when he declared "inoperative" Watergate-related statements he had made over a period of months.

"Six months is too long to be away from my friends in the press," he told White House reporters with whom he often has been at odds.

Ziegler has not appeared regularly to brief reporters at the White House since last June. As questions about his credibility were raised by the press corps, key Nixon advisers Melvin R. Laird and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally suggested that he be replaced.

But Ziegler, a former advertising executive with the J. Walter Thompson agency, has survived and been given added stature as a presidential assistant.

While abdicating the briefing podium to his stand-in, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, Ziegler has surfaced periodically to handle major announcements. He last appeared Nov. 29 when Warren was ill.

Some veteran White House reporters suspect Ziegler is returning because Nixon wants his most trusted press man out front now that the serious issues of impeachment and the possibility of more Watergate indictments are coming to the fore.

Asked why Ziegler was returning, Warren said, "The President thought it was a good idea and Ron wanted to do it."

At a 50-minute Tuesday morning briefing, Ziegler faced a barrage of Watergate-related questions.

One reporter asked: "Do you think your credibility has been restored?"

"I think credibility is always a question that has to be determined by the listener," Ziegler said. He said that in speaking for the White House he has stated the facts as he knew them to be and could speak "in very good conscience."

Asked about a new White House directive that all White House aides report to him on their contacts to the press, Ziegler said the procedure was launched because many news stories have been quoting anonymous White House sources. He said Nixon aides now would "go on the record as much as possible except when it is beneficial to us or to you."

When the briefing was over, the press secretary was asked how he liked getting back into the fray.

"Well, it hasn't changed much," Ziegler replied.

Tire Firms Seeking End To Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Contending the energy crisis is causing a decline in sales, tire company executives asked the Cost of Living Council Tuesday to lift price controls from the industry.

B.F. Goodrich President Patrick C. Ross said the industry is faced with an expected 4.5 per cent drop in sales this year and noted that tire shipments in December were off 10 per cent from a year earlier.

He said the main causes were the slowdown in auto sales, the gasoline shortage and reduced highway speeds.

"If the energy crisis were a compelling consideration in the decontrol of the automobile industry, it should be even more so in the case of the tire and inner tube industry," Ross said.

The council has granted the tire companies a two-step increase since the Phase 4 price controls program began. It estimates that price increases sought by eight tire companies would total $209 million.

Earlier, the director of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Edward F. Carter, said his company estimates that tire material costs will rise 50 per cent by mid-year over 1972 costs, largely because of higher oil prices.

He said from six to seven gallons of oil are needed to manufacture a tire, including four to five gallons of raw materials and two gallons for energy.

B.F. Goodrich has proposed a price increase of 4.86 per cent and Firestone is seeking a price hike of 4.45 per cent. Ross said that although Goodrich earnings were up in 1973, they were not adequate. While the government's price controls have helped keep down tire prices, labor and material costs have not been adequately restrained, he indicated.

No Incidents In Trucking Shutdown

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol said no new incidents of violence were reported Tuesday night in connection with trucker protests.

A patrol spokesman said traffic was flowing smoothly. He said patrolmen were following truckers in the area "with our cars, keeping the trucks moving."

Meanwhile, George Rynn of Akron, president of the Council of Independent Truckers, was reported in Washington for talks with U.S. Sen. Henry Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee.

Also reported at the Washington meeting was the editor of Overdrive Magazine, Mike Parkhurst, spokesman for a group of independent truckers who have scheduled another protest Jan. 31 over high fuel costs and speed limits.

Two East Liverpool men face vandalism charges for allegedly smashing the rear view mirror of a tractor-trailer rig on Ohio 11 Tuesday morning.

Sheriff's deputies said 45-year-old Thomas Hebron and 36-year-old George Cekovich were being held in Summit County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond. Deputies said a hearing was set for Thursday morning.

Fire authorities said the state fire marshal was being asked to investigate a fire which destroyed an Ashland Oil Co. truck near where protesting truckers were gathered. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

N.C. State Edges Tarheels

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer

There seemed to be little argument over who was the best player in North Carolina Tuesday night.

After North Carolina State had defeated their neighbors at Chapel Hill 83-80, even Tarheel Coach Dean Smith had to rave about was the man who was most responsible for his team's defeat — David Thompson.

"Thompson was fantastic," said Smith. "He proved again that he is the most dominating player in college basketball with the exception of Bill Walton, I guess."

"We played against Julius Erving (now with the New York Nets) and he didn't dominate play the way Thompson does. There is no comparison between the two at this stage."

Thompson scored 18 of his 26 points in the second half to help the third-ranked Tarheels turn back a rally by fourth-ranked North Carolina.

Thompson provided the winning margin in the closing seconds when he sank a free throw for the Tarheels who moved into first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

In other Top 10 action, topranked Notre Dame got a scare before defeating Kansas 76-74, fifth-ranked Maryland beat Canisius 86-73, and sixth-ranked Marquette turned back No. 10 Long Beach State 54-52.

Digger Phelps said his topranked Irish were not looking ahead to their Saturday rematch with UCLA, but Kansas still almost caught them from behind.

Trailing 49-35 at the half, the Jayhawks, now 11-4, four times pulled within two points led by Rick Suttle who scored 27 points.

Last year, Notre Dame beat Kansas 66-64 in overtime at Notre Dame.

Marquette looked to be in trouble in the first half, hitting only .184. Then one of Al McGuire's assistants came to the rescue, figuring out a way to beat the Long Beach zone.

Marquette came back after being down by 11 points late in the first half and after going ahead by five with six minutes remaining, the sixth-ranked Warriors had to rally again when Roscoe Pondexter scored with 1:09 to put Long Beach back in the lead.

Tom McMillen and John Lucas combined for 45 points to lead the Terrapins past Canisius. McMillen scored 16 of his 25 points in the second half to put Maryland ahead 49-37 with 12:30 to play.

In other games, UT-Chattanooga, topranked small college team, beat Georgia State 78-69, Fairfield beat Georgetown 75-71, Creighton defeated Bradley 79-53, William and Mary downed VMI 85-68, Larry Williams scored 25 points to pace Kansas State to a 73-65 victory over Nebraska, Wichita State beat North Texas State 83-76, and the University of the Pacific beat Santa Clara 76-63.

Denison Edges Muskingum

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An aroused Denison basketball squad surprised Muskingum 41-39 Tuesday night, topping the Muskies from first place in the Ohio Conference.

Muskingum played without the services of Gene Ford, who came down with a virus, but the Denison coaching staff felt the outcome would have been the same if the star guard had seen action.

"I think it was a factor, but we would have done as good a job defensively with Ford playing," said Tom Ellinger, an assistant Denison coach.

"It was Denison's best defensive effort of the year," Ellinger said. They played very strong control basketball.

"We have tried to slow the game down this year and have more discipline than in the past," he explained.

Ellinger said center Lee Bowman, who paced Denison with 17 points and 10 rebounds, "did a very fine all-around job."

The loss was Muskingum's first in six league games. Denison now is 3-3 in conference play.

In other Ohio Conference action, Ohio Northern edged Kenyon 60-58, Wooster whipped Baldwin-Wallace 79-49 and Heidelberg nudged Oberlin 56-55.

Steve Simon tipped in the winning basket for Northern as the final buzzer sounded to spoil a dramatic comeback attempt by the Lords, who had overcome an 18-point first half deficit by hitting a sizzling 80 per cent of their shots in the second period.

The triumph improved Northern's conference record to 7-3, while Kenyon fell to a 2-5 mark.

Wooster was paced by Gene Schindewolf with 17 points as it evened its conference record at 3-3 while handing Baldwin-Wallace its sixth loss in seven league contests.

Heidelberg squeaked past Oberlin on a 15-shot jumper by Mike Roads with four seconds remaining to play. Heidelberg now is 3-4 in the OC; Oberlin is 1-5.

In nonconference action, Ashland rolled over Ohio Dominican 98-65 for its sixth straight victory.

Little Mustangs Capture Three Cage Contests

Westfall's freshman, seventh and eighth grade cage teams all put wins in the record book Tuesday.

The freshmen topped Paint Valley, 56-27, on the loser's court while the seventh graders beat Teays Valley, 44-37, in overtime and the eighth graders downed the Vikings, 35-29, in a pair of games at Jackson.

John Long paced the Mustang freshmen with 22 points, Neil Keller had 12, Eric Schleich eight, Chuck Mettler, Carl Strittmatter and Mike Weidinger each had four and Dave Clem tallied two.

Bruce Starkey led the seventh grade Mustangs with 15 markers, Dan Schleich had 10, Chris Weaver six, George Kern five, Mark List four while H. L. Gibson and Tom Adams each tallied two.

Jeff Welsh was high for Teays Valley with 12 points, David Richard had eight, Doug Bumgarner six, Carl Hardbarger and Allen Ett each had four and Yancy Toney netted three.

The Westfall eighth graders were led by Jeff Mowery with 10, Mike Hurley had seven, Larry List six while David Rowland, Ted Everman and Randy Darst each added four.

Ronnie Little paced the Vikings with 14 markers, Bill Dowell had six, Dwane Hettinger had three while Dennis Werner, Duane Keller and Dan Schooley each netted two.

Logan Elm Loses To Mid State Leader Canal Winchester, 76-65

Logan Elm battled Canal Winchester on even terms for a little over three quarters but could not catch up after falling behind, losing 76-65.

The Mid State League leaders now have an 11-1 overall record and a 9-0 slate in the loop. They are ranked 10th in the AP Class A—high school cage poll. The Braves have dropped to a 6-7 overall mark and a 3-6 loop record.

In other Mid State action Tuesday, Liberty Union made the road ahead a little safer for the Indians by defeating number two Millersport, 68-67, Berne

Union edged Pickerington, 54-53, Bloom Carroll slipped past Lancaster Fisher 69-62 and Fairfield Union bombed Amanda Clearcreek 82-46. It was the second loss for Millersport.

At Logan Elm Tuesday, the visiting Indians were ahead by one point, 15-14, after the first period. Then in the second, the Braves went out front 28-27.

Winchester jumped ahead right after the third quarter got under way and were never headed after that, leading 47-42, going into the final frame.

It was during a 3-minute span in the final quarter the Indians cemented their victory, outscoring the Braves 11-2 and taking a 66-49 lead with 3:40 to go.

LE battled back gamely but could get no closer than nine points with a minute to go.

Jeff Black paced the winners hooping 29 markers on 13 field goals and three charity tosses. Two other Indians hit in double figures. Craig Hartman and Phil Steube each scored 15.

For the Braves, Mitch Martin connected on eight of 14 field goal tries and sank six free throws for a 22-point total.

Also in the twin-figure column were Mike Miller and Terry Crumley with 14 each and Joe Stump with 10. Scott Pontius, the Braves leading scorer, was switched to guard for the game and could not adjust scoring-wise, notching only four points.

However, he pulled down eight rebounds and was the key player in bringing the ball upcourt against the full court man to man press used by the Indians. Phil Manson was the only other Brave to score, tallying one point.

The Braves made 25 of 61 shots from the field and 15 of 23 from the charity stripe. The Indians connected on 31 of 63 shots from the field and 14 of 17 at the foul line.

The Braves had 22 turnovers and pulled down 44 rebounds. Mike Miller led with 12 grabs, Mitch Martin came up with 10 and Joe Stump with eight.

The Little Braves won the preliminary tilt, 44-34, improving their record to 11-2 for the season.

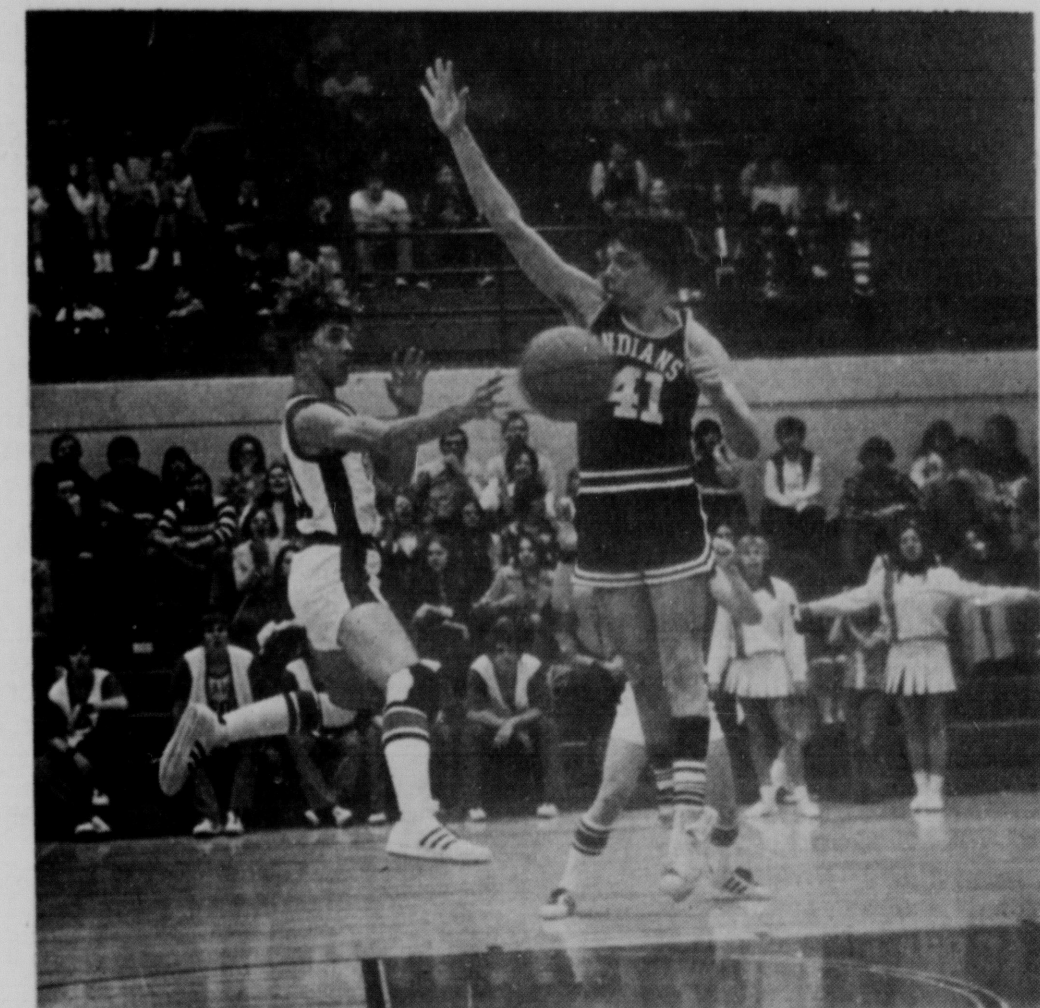

Friday the Braves travel to Lancaster Fisher Catholic.

'New' Johnny Bench Signs Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — The "new" Johnny Bench, hinting of added maturity and even marriage, willingly scribbled his signature to a contract agreement Tuesday described by his boss as "a first in sports."

Believed to be his second straight $100,000-plus-a-year pact, Bench did not dicker or stage any preliminary negotiations with Cincinnati Reds' President Bob Howsam.

"I told him to fill it in for what he thought was fair and I'd sign it," said the handsome 26-year-old superstar as he approached the start of his seventh season with the Reds.

Howsam, whose shrewd baseball dealings have assembled what some consider a dynasty in the making, said it was an unselfish and unheard of move in this day of high-priced hold-outs.

"But that's the way John is," said Howsam. "He's always been first-class. He has faith in the people he deals with and I have faith in him."

"I'm satisfied," said Bench, "and he's satisfied." Bench said he didn't take a pay cut.

Driessen Named Reds Newcomer

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Dan Driessen, a rookie whose blazing bat helped key a torrid Cincinnati Reds comeback, was named as the club's Newcomer of the Year by the Cincinnati Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Thrust into a new position at third base, he responded by hitting .301 while playing in 87 games. He was called up from the Reds farm team in Indianapolis where he was hitting .406.

Ralston Named Top AFC Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — John Ralston, who gave the Denver Broncos their first winning season, was named today the American Football Conference's Coach of the Year by the Pro Football Writers of America.

Ralston, in his second season as Denver head coach, kept the Broncos in contention for the AFC's Western Division championship until they lost 21-17 to Oakland in their final game. Denver improved from a 5-9 record to 7-5-2.

Bench signed for a reported $105,000 last year, shortly after lung surgery to explore what was feared to be cancer. A benign tumor was removed.

His performance afield reflected in his statistics. Some said the operation and ensuing grueling schedule sapped him of his power.

In 1972 he was named Most Valuable Player of the National League for leading both leagues in home runs with 40 and runs batted in with 125.

Given rest more frequently, but still appearing in a workhorse 153 games, Bench's mark dropped. His .270 average in 1972 fell to .253, the home runs dwindled to 25. But he cracked the 100-RBI plateau for the third time with 104.

"I wasn't completely satisfied with 1973, but realistically speaking I have to be pleased. A lot of players would like to have that kind of year," said Bench from his plush $50,000-a-year apartment which overlooks the Ohio River.

But there were positive effects from his brush with disaster.

"I think I've slowed down since the operation. It made me aware you can't go hell-bent-for-leather all your life. I was always in a big rush before."

"I'm not trying to catch the wind anymore," laughed the biggest votegetter in All-Star Game history, a No. 2 draft choice in 1965.

And the talk of marriage?

"I think it's probably time I settled down. I said at a banquet the other day that I might get married if we win the World Series this year."

"I mean it. There's no one special right now. I think I've realized you can't play baseball all your life. There are other things that are going to mean much more later on," said the stocky Oklahoman who sprouted a mustache in the offseason and sported a number of foxy glamor gals during his coast-to-coast appearances.

But marriage will have to wait for now.

"We've got to get that elusive World Series title and I feel this is the year. We're a better ballclub than before and we've had some great clubs in the past."

"We haven't finished our goal," said Bench.

Ellinger said center Lee Bowman, who paced Denison with 17 points and 10 rebounds, "did a very fine all-around job."

The loss was Muskingum's first in six league games. Denison now is 3-3 in conference play.

In other Ohio Conference action, Ohio Northern edged Kenyon 60-58, Wooster whipped Baldwin-Wallace 79-49 and Heidelberg nudged Oberlin 56-55.

Steve Simon tipped in the winning basket for Northern as the final buzzer sounded to spoil a dramatic comeback attempt by the Lords, who had overcome an 18-point first half deficit by hitting a sizzling 80 per cent of their shots in the second period.

The triumph improved Northern's conference record to 7-3, while Kenyon fell to a 2-5 mark.

Wooster was paced by Gene Schindewolf with 17 points as it evened its conference record at 3-3 while handing Baldwin-Wallace its sixth loss in seven league contests.

Heidelberg squeaked past Oberlin on a 15-shot jumper by Mike Roads with four seconds remaining to play. Heidelberg now is 3-4 in the OC; Oberlin is 1-5.

In nonconference action, Ashland rolled over Ohio Dominican 98-65 for its sixth straight victory.

Little Mustangs Capture Three Cage Contests

Westfall's freshman, seventh and eighth grade cage teams all put wins in the record book Tuesday.

The freshmen topped Paint Valley, 56-27, on the loser's court while the seventh graders beat Teays Valley, 44-37, in overtime and the eighth graders downed the Vikings, 35-29, in a pair of games at Jackson.

John Long paced the Mustang freshmen with 22 points, Neil Keller had 12, Eric Schleich eight, Chuck Mettler, Carl Strittmatter and Mike Weidinger each had four and Dave Clem tallied two.

Bruce Starkey led the seventh grade Mustangs with 15 markers, Dan Schleich had 10, Chris Weaver six, George Kern five, Mark List four while H. L. Gibson and Tom Adams each tallied two.

Jeff Welsh was high for Teays Valley with 12 points, David Richard had eight, Doug Bumgarner six, Carl Hardbarger and Allen Ett each had four and Yancy Toney netted three.

The Westfall eighth graders were led by Jeff Mowery with 10, Mike Hurley had seven, Larry List six while David Rowland, Ted Everman and Randy Darst each added four.

Ronnie Little paced the Vikings with 14 markers, Bill Dowell had six, Dwane Hettinger had three while Dennis Werner, Duane Keller and Dan Schooley each netted two.

Logan Elm Loses To Mid State Leader Canal Winchester, 76-65

Logan Elm battled Canal Winchester on even terms for a little over three quarters but could not catch up after falling behind, losing 76-65.

The Mid State League leaders now have an 11-1 overall record and a 9-0 slate in the loop. They are ranked 10th in the AP Class A—high school cage poll. The Braves have dropped to a 6-7 overall mark and a 3-6 loop record.

In other Mid State action Tuesday, Liberty Union made the road ahead a little safer for the Indians by defeating number two Millersport, 68-67, Berne

Union edged Pickerington, 54-53, Bloom Carroll slipped past Lancaster Fisher 69-62 and Fairfield Union bombed Amanda Clearcreek 82-46. It was the second loss for Millersport.

At Logan Elm Tuesday, the visiting Indians were ahead by one point, 15-14, after the first period. Then in the second, the Braves went out front 28-27.

Winchester jumped ahead right after the third quarter got under way and were never headed after that, leading 47-42, going into the final frame.

It was during a 3-minute span in the final quarter the Indians cemented their victory, outscoring the Braves 11-2 and taking a 66-49 lead with 3:40 to go.

LE battled back gamely but could get no closer than nine points with a minute to go.

Jeff Black paced the winners hooping 29 markers on 13 field goals and three charity tosses. Two other Indians hit in double figures, Craig Hartman and Phil Steube each scored 15.

For the Braves, Mitch Martin connected on eight of 14 field goal tries and sank six free throws for a 22-point total.

Also in the twin-figure column were Mike Miller and Terry Crumley with 14 each and Joe Stump with 10. Scott Pontius, the Braves leading scorer, was switched to guard for the game and could not adjust scoring-wise, nothing only four points.

However, he pulled down eight rebounds and was the key player in bringing the ball upcourt against the full court man to man press used by the Indians. Phil Manson was the only other Brave to score, tallying one point.

The Braves made 25 of 61 shots from the field and 15 of 23 from the charity stripe. The Indians connected on 31 of 63 shots from the field and 14 of 17 at the foul line.

The Braves had 22 turnovers and pulled down 44 rebounds. Mike Miller led with 12 grabs, Mitch Martin came up with 10 and Joe Stump with eight.

The Little Braves won the preliminary tilt, 44-34, improving their record to 11-2 for the season.

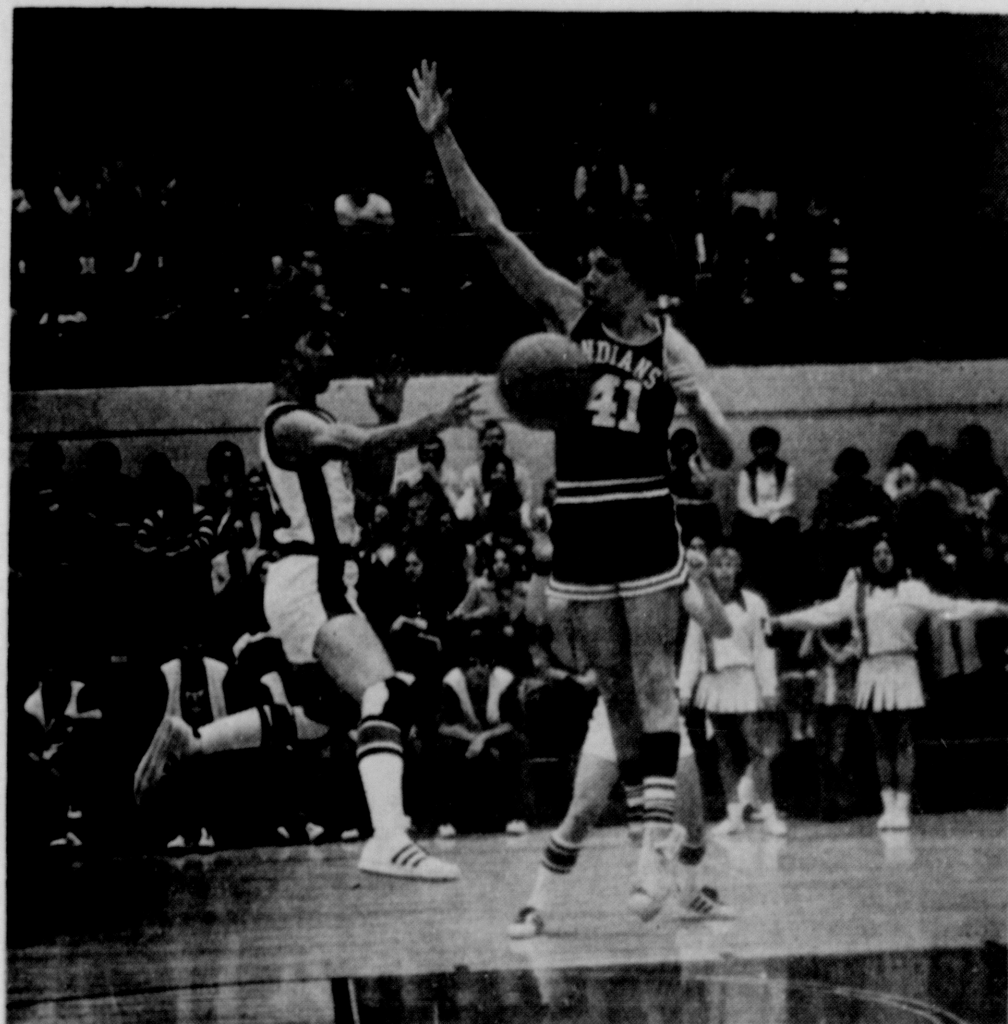

Friday the Braves travel to Lancaster Fisher Catholic.

'New' Johnny Bench Signs Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — The "new" Johnny Bench, hinting of added maturity and even marriage, willingly scribbled his signature to a contract agreement Tuesday described by his boss as "a first in sports."

Believed to be his second straight $100,000-plus-a-year pact, Bench did not dicker or stage any preliminary negotiations with Cincinnati Reds' President Bob Howsam.

"I told him to fill it in for what he thought was fair and I'd sign it," said the handsome 26-year-old superstar as he approached the start of his seventh season with the Reds.

Howsam, whose shrewd baseball dealings have assembled what some consider a dynasty in the making, said it was an unselfish and unheard of move in this day of high-priced hold-outs.

"But that's the way John is," said Howsam. "He's always been first-class. He has faith in the people he deals with and I have faith in him."

"I'm satisfied," said Bench, "and he's satisfied." Bench said he didn't take a pay cut.

Driessen Named Reds Newcomer

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Dan Driessen, a rookie whose blazing bat helped key a torrid Cincinnati Reds comeback, was named as the club's Newcomer of the Year by the Cincinnati Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Thrust into a new position at third base, he responded by hitting .301 while playing in 87 games. He was called up from the Reds farm team in Indianapolis where he was hitting .406.

Ralston Named Top AFC Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — John Ralston, who gave the Denver Broncos their first winning season, was named today the American Football Conference's Coach of the Year by the Pro Football Writers of America.

Ralston, in his second season as Denver head coach, kept the Broncos in contention for the AFC's Western Division championship until they lost 21-17 to Oakland in their final game. Denver improved from a 5-9 record to 7-5-2.

Junior Tigers Win At Adena

Circleville's seventh and eighth grade cage squads both came up with victories Tuesday at Adena.

The seventh graders, 3-4, grabbed a 36-32 win while the eighth graders, 6-2, copped a 46-41 decision.

Richard Elsea paced the seventh graders with 10 points, Tim Pontious had nine, Brian Sealock eight, Don Hill three while Jim Gates, Kevin Woltz and Pete Harrison each had two.

Dave Marshall and Toren Bensonhaver each tallied 12 markers to lead the eighth graders, Roy Huffer had 10, Larry Reed eight and Dave Holbrook four.

Both Circleville squads will be at Greenfield Thursday.

Big Dealer Wins Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—Big Dealer charged out of sixth place at the top of the stretch to win the featured race at Latonia Tuesday night by half a length.

Completing the six furlongs in 1:18 5-10, the winner paid $7.60, $4.40 and $2.80. Perennial returned $6.00 and $3.80 for second. Nigrets Pride showed at $2.60.

Special Father and Lukes Sandle, 4-10, paid $85.60 in the daily double. A crowd of 4,402 wagered $450,907.

Clay Bryant of the San Francisco Giants was the only National League hurler to win 20 games in 1973. He won 24.

Carol Anderson is the leader in the Burtic's Trophy with a total of 1904. Betty Knotts is the high scratch three-game leader with 643 and holds the high scratch game mark with 267.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Keep all things "in line," but avoid anxiety or worrisome anticipation of trouble. Conflict of interests in certain areas? You should enjoy the challenge.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Don't enter activities in which you are not particularly interested just because someone else wants to. There are some suggestions you should reject.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may not progress as rapidly as you wish, may receive fewer gains than you expected. But keep at it — with patience — and you will achieve much.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may overreach your mark now because of anxiety or miscalculation. Try to avoid this by taking things in stride and, in all things, follow well-tested procedures.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Good solar influences. Plan a well-balanced program and be thoughtful in making decisions. Weigh all offerings astutely.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You may encounter some baffling, even irritating situations. Regard them as part of the overall pattern and reflect carefully before jumping to conclusions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Don't overlook definite obligations because of a desire to "try something new." Emphasize the Libran's innate stability.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Don't wait too long before attacking a problem or handling an assignment, or day's end will find you in a state of "nerves," trying to offset your procrastination.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Put fervor and ardent ambition into this fine day, and stress optimism. That is often all that is needed to insure success. Better than average opportunities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Wait for cues before launching any project. If not on guard, you could get into difficult situations or needless complications.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Stress your foresightedness now in order to prevent witless errors. Don't leap at ideas or suggestions made by those who can misguide through a pleasing manner.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A day in which to spread your wings a bit — if time and obligations permit. Staying in a rut never helped anyone.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect, a gregarious personality and extremely lofty ambitions. ## Braves Rip 76ers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When General Manager Eddie Donovan and Coach Jack Ramsay revamped the Buffalo Braves during the off-season, they didn't expect instant success — but that's just about what has happened.

The Braves, who won 22, 22 and 21 games in their first three years in the National Basketball Association, won their 25th game of the 1973-74 season Tuesday night, beating the Philadelphia 76ers 119-109.

That boosted Buffalo's record to 25-24 and made this the latest point in any season that the expansion club has been above the .500 mark.

Jim McMillian hit 10 consecutive shots and scored 32 points for the Braves against Philadelphia. Bob McAdoo added 21 points and 14 rebounds and Gar Heard had 20 points and 15 rebounds.

In other NBA games, the Houston Rockets beat the New York Knicks 108-93, the Chicago Bulls topped the Atlanta Hawks 102-89, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 103-96, the Golden State Warriors edged the Cleveland Cavaliers 99-97 and the Los Angeles Lakers 111-110 in overtime.

There were no games in the American Basketball Association Tuesday night.

Swords Get 2 Players

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Swords, struggling to regain the form which swept them to the American Hockey League crown last season, have acquired two players from the Buffalo Sabres, their parent club.

Center Peter McNab, a promising rookie who was called up to the Sabres when center Gil Perreault broke his leg, rejoins the Swords. Joe Noris, a defenseman, also moved to Cincinnati.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Bad If all goes as planned, the news for space buffs: The Skylab 3 astronauts, who CBS, NBC and ABC television networks say they aren't scheduled to return to planning live coverage of earth Feb. 8 at 11:14 a.m. next month's return of the Skylab 3 astronauts from their record stay in space.

Unless there's a sudden change of mind, it'll be the first time in 19 of this nation's manned space flights that the networks have turned thumbs down on live coverage of the now-familiar splashdown.

They've missed only one — and not intentionally — since Dec. 16, 1965, when their tradition of live coverage of space homecomings began with the return of the Gemini 6 astronauts.

They had planned live coverage of the Gemini 8 splashdown in 1966, but were blanked out when the spacecraft had a serious malfunction and had to make an emergency landing in the Pacific, far from the eyes of the television camera.

Although a space agency spokesman says the networks indicated to him the "costs of coverage" were the primary reason for not televising the return of Skylab 3 live, two networks deny this.

ABC and CBS say the estimated $250,000 to $300,000 cost of live network pool coverage wasn't a factor. NBC declined to say whether it was.

All say it simply is a matter of news judgement. They'd rather use their time, manpower and money on other major stories they now feel are more important than live coverage of the Skylab 3 return.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Bad news for space buffs: The Skylab 3 astronauts, who CBS, NBC and ABC television networks say they aren't scheduled to return to planning live coverage of next month's return of the Skylab 3 astronauts from their record stay in space.

Unless there's a sudden change of mind, it'll be the first time in 19 of this nation's manned space flights that the networks have turned thumbs down on live coverage of the now-familiar splashdown.

They've missed only one — and not intentionally — since Dec. 16, 1965, when their tradition of live coverage of space homecomings began with the return of the Gemini 6 astronauts.

They had planned live coverage of the Gemini 8 splashdown in 1966, but were blanked out when the spacecraft had a serious malfunction and had to make an emergency landing in the Pacific, far from the eyes of the television camera.

Although a space agency spokesman says the networks indicated to him the "costs of coverage" were the primary reason for not televising the return of Skylab 3 live, two networks deny this.

ABC and CBS say the estimated $250,000 to $300,000 cost of live network pool coverage wasn't a factor. NBC declined to say whether it was.

All say it simply is a matter of news judgement. They'd rather use their time, manpower and money on other major stories they now feel are more important than live coverage of the Skylab 3 return.
